U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR, Oct. 2 (UP) — Marines and army forces today continued to mop up a few "fanatical enemy troops on Peleliu and Angaur islands, and a military government has been proclaimed on occupied Angaur," Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced today.

Yanks Take Over Palau Bases for Philippines Push

By MAC R. JOHNSON
Former Times-News Reporter

PEARL HARBOR, T. H., Oct. 2 (UP) — American troops held firm control over the southern Palau islands and three airfields within three hours' flight of the Philippines today after killing more than 10,000 Japanese in 19 days of bloody, no-quarter battle.

Veteran marine and army units "secured" five of the southernmost islets in the strategic Palau chain over the week-end and herded the surviving Japanese into two small pockets, one on Peleliu's "bloody nose ridge" and the other on nearby Angaur island.

Japs Hold Out

An estimated 2,000 fanatical enemy troops were believed holding out in the two pockets, the bulk of them apparently dug in among the rock caves of bloody nose ridge, which already has witnessed some of the toughest fighting of the Pacific war.

"Elimination of the remnants of the Japanese defenders continues," a communique from Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' Pacific fleet headquarters said tersely.

Battle Expected

Despite the announcement that the southern islands were "secured," there was every indication that the surviving Japanese would fight to the last man and that further costly fighting lay ahead before they could be dug out and killed.

Warplanes of the second marine wing, presumably operating from the captured Peleliu airfield, spattered 1,000-pound bombs across the cave forts on bloody nose ridge, while ground troops fought their way slowly up the rocky slopes, rooting the Japanese out with flame-throwers, grenades and gunfire.

Angaur Under Control

Practically all of Angaur island also was in American hands, along with Ngesebus, Kongauru and an unidentified tiny islet just north of Peleliu. The Angaur airfield and a partially-completed fighter strip on Ngesebus were in American hands, providing jump-off points for land-based bombers less than 600 miles east of the Philippines.

Of the estimated 12,000 Japanese holding the southern Palaus when the American invasion began on Sept. 15, about 150 were known to have been captured and more than 10,000 killed, against officially-announced American casualties of 5,500 as of Sept. 25, including 686 killed.

JAP SHIP LOSSES 1,220 FOR MONTH

By The Associated Press

At least 1,220 Japanese surface craft were destroyed or damaged last month, including 303 ocean going ships definitely sunk, a recapitulation of allied communiques disclosed today.

No other month has approached it for sheer numbers—August had an overall total of some 800 including about 175 ships unquestionably sunk—although some may have surpassed it in tonnage. Two thirds of the September total consisted of barges, luggers, sampans, rivercraft and other small boats.

Transports Lost

The losses that really hurt Japan were the 303 transports, freighters, tankers, coastal vessels and warships sent to the bottom. Of these 201 were sunk by planes and warships of Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' and Gen. Douglas MacArthur's commands, mostly in and around the Philippines. The remaining 102 were divided almost equally between American submarines, British subs and China-based planes.

American air forces in China lost their fourth advanced base when Japanese armies trying to split the country in two overran Tanchuk in southeast China.

Blast Own Base

Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault's 14th air force had already destroyed their own base at Tanchuk as they did their airdromes at Kweilin, threatened by nipponese armies only 30 miles away.

A Chinese spokesman blamed lack of adequate aid for the poor showing of Chiang Kai-shek's armies. He said all of the American equipment delivered east China forces since Pearl harbor wouldn't sustain an American division in combat for a week.

23 MORE SENT TO PEN AS SLACKERS

BOISE, Oct. 2 (AP)—Federal Judge Chase A. Clark today sentenced 17 Japanese and six Caucasians convicted of selective service draft violations to three years and three months in prison and ordered fines of $200 in each case.

Two nisei who switched pleas from innocent to guilty — Saburo Numoto, 28, and Kentaro Yasuda, 21, both of Seattle—were given lighter penalties of 18 months in a federal penitentiary. Maximum sentence under the law is five years and a $10,000 fine.

The sentencing completed court action against 35 nisei from the Minidoka relocation center at Hunt, and eight Caucasians in wholesale selective indictments returned by a federal grand jury early last month.

One nisei was acquitted and the others were sentenced earlier.

Those sentenced included Bert LeRoy Walker, Buhl, John Walter Williamson, Twin Falls; Tsutomu Kajimuri, 21, Cle Elum, Wash.; Hiroto Nagasugi, 19, Bellingham, Wash.; and these from Seattle — Hitoshi Gene Akutsu, 18, and Jim Hajime Akutsu, 24, brothers; Hideyuki Henry Fujiwara, 24, Bob Riyusho Hino, 19.

C of C Head Raps Ban on Wage Lids

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Eric A. Johnston, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, said today in a statement prepared for the war labor board that he favors high wages but opposes lifting existing wage ceilings because, he argued, that might lead to inflation and then to deflation.

Johnston appeared as an industry spokesman at the board's hearings on the demands of labor for wage increases which would crack the "little steel" formula, keystone of the nation's wage stabilization policy.

Reds Threaten to Cut Balkan Escape Route

By HENRY SHAPIRO

MOSCOW, Oct. 2 (U.P.)—The red army, advancing nearly a mile an hour across Yugoslavia, slashed to within 40 miles of the Belgrade-Athens railway today in a drive threatening that main artery of escape for perhaps 200,000 Germans in the southern Balkans.

Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's second Ukrainian army penetrated the suburbs of the mining town of Zajecar and reached to within approximately 46 miles of the big railway hub of Nis in its rapid-fire advance.

Tito Junction Near

Malinovsky's forces were expected to link up with Marshal Tito's partisan army within the next few days, if they have not already done so. Recent reports had placed a large partisan column near Zajecar, a five-way highway and three-way railway center.

The drive was aimed squarely at Nis, junction of the Belgrade-Athens and Belgrade-Sofia-Istanbul railways and one of the most important communications centers in the Balkans. Severance of the Belgrade-Athens railway would leave the German garrisons in southern Yugoslavia, Albania, Greece and the Aegean islands only secondary railways and highways over which to escape to the north.

NAVYMAN, PILOT REPORTED KILLED

BURLEY, Oct. 2—Arthur Tolman, in the navy the last 10 years, was killed during the recent tornado which wrecked the ship he was serving on in New York harbor.

His family is well known in Cassia county, and his mother, Mrs. Lydia Reed, was visiting her sister, Mrs. Jane Tolman of Marion, when she was called home to Pocatello by the news.

Tolman had been expecting a furlough to come home for a visit, since he had not seen the family for seven years.

BURLEY, Oct. 2—Lieut. John Rolfe Kerfoot, 30, brother of Mrs. Bennett B. Hill, Burley, was killed in action Sept. 10 in the European theater, according to word received by Mrs. Hill from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Kerfoot, Caldwell.

The young man lived four seasons with the Hills while he attended the university. He was pilot of a P-47 Thunderbolt fighter.

Reds Thought Planning War Against Japs

By R. H. SHACKFORD

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (U.P.)—Far eastern diplomatic observers gave three major reasons today for believing Soviet Russia will enter the war against Japan sometime after the defeat of Germany.

They do not believe that Russia will do it immediately after Germany's collapse. In fact, if all other factors were equal, they believe Russia would elect to stay out.

But they give these reasons for believing she will eventually join China, Britain and the United States as a belligerent in that area:

Has Old Score

1. Russia has an old score—the Russo-Japanese war which Japan won—to settle with Japan and it is also to her long-term interest in the maritime provinces of the far east to see Japanese militarism destroyed.

2. She wants a voice in the final peace settlement in the far east, especially in the disposition of

Canadians Begin Dunkerque Drive

LONDON, Oct. 2 (U.P.)—Canadian troops were reported storming historic Dunkerque today, attacking that last German stronghold on the French channel coast barely 24 hours after liberating the torn and burning port of Calais.

Calais fell at midnight Saturday after eight days of overpowering land and air assault, and the Canadians were expected to deal as swiftly with an estimated 15,000 nazis trapped in Dunkerque, where the ill-fated British expeditionary force of 1940 fought its last battle.

Word of the assault on Dunkerque came in a field dispatch to the London Daily Express early this morning. There were no immediate details on the battle and headquarters had no confirmation that the attack had begun.

Rumors of Coffee Rationing Denied

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP) — Coffee drinkers have received assurance from War Mobilizer James F. Byrnes that there will be no resumption of coffee rationing now.

Byrnes said there is a 3½ months supply of coffee on hand or en route and that Brazil has given assurance that 1,000,000 bags will be supplied monthly.

American importers had reported that growers in coffee producing countries had been staying out of the market in order to obtain a price increase, causing the U. S. stockpile to drop.

Byrnes issued his statement yesterday after reports had spread that coffee rationing was imminent and housewives in several communities had started to stock up.

High Court Opens Historic Session

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—The supreme court, confronted by an array of complicated legal controversies, begins today another potentially historic term of its 154-year career. More than 500 cases already are docketed.

Wartime litigation added to the stack of cases piled up since the tribunal adjourned last June after a stormy session marked by split decisions, controversy among the justices, and criticisms of individual jurists.

FR MAY APPOINT NELSON AS AIDE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Donald M. Nelson appears due for adoption into President Roosevelt's family of personal aides and emissaries, charged with helping restore ravaged economies of other countries and enlisting them as customers for American goods.

Mr. Roosevelt's letter accepting Nelson's resignation as war production board chairman and asking him to take a new position described the forthcoming assignment as a "high post of major importance" in paving the way for "postwar economic cooperation with other nations."

It is generally believed that the President intends for Nelson to work on his own, outside the framework of existing agencies dealing with foreign trade—the state and commerce departments and the foreign economic administration.

In view of this belief, most of the week-end speculation revolved around these alternatives: First, that Nelson might head a new government agency—a guess that Nelson did not confirm for reporters; second, and more likely, that the former WPB chairman with a small staff and perhaps a new title would merely expand his present role as Mr. Roosevelt's special envoy and counsellor on matters of overseas trade and economic rehabilitation.

Aid Sent Mexico Flood Sufferers

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 2 (AP) — Warplanes and boats of many kinds, including two submarine-chasers of the Mexican navy, are seeking to reach thousands of flood-marooned persons in five southern Mexico states before disease and hunger take a wholesale toll.

The health department ordered relief rushed to the stricken regions, from Tampico to the Guatemalan border.

Tito's Slav Partisans Capture Key Town

LONDON, Oct. 2 (U.P.)—Yugoslav partisans have captured Spoot, 20 miles south of Belgrade, and are advancing on the suburban town of Avala, eight miles below the capital, a partisan communique said today.

The communique reported partisan successes along a broad front.

Dewey Has Edge as Candidates Schedule Key Talks This Week

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (U.P.)—Republican managers have maneuvered Gov. Thomas E. Dewey into a favorable position in his bitter debate with President Roosevelt which will be resumed this week with the candidates speaking 48 hours apart in adjacent areas.

Mr. Roosevelt broadcasts on the night of Oct. 5 from the White House. Dewey will reply two nights later from Charleston, W. Va. Dewey's appearance in Charleston is another significant GOP move in the campaign to break the Democratic hold on border states. It will be a difficult job.

Campaign Bitter

This campaign already is bitter. If the President again ridicules his opposition as he did in his address here to the AFL teamster's union, Dewey can be expected to come back at him as he did in Oklahoma City. The young man from New York knows as well as the President how to blister with words, and in this exchange will have preferred position as second speaker and a fat 48 hours in which to compose his reply.

Dewey already has appealed directly to border state voters in Oklahoma and Missouri and has delivered seven major speeches. Mr. Roosevelt's speech this week will be the second of his avowedly political efforts. His managers hope he will step up the tempo of the campaign by making several more.

Observers Confused

Political observers are confused here by the contrast between statements made by the President and his campaign manager, Chairman Robert E. Hannegan of the Democratic national committee. Hannegan says Mr. Roosevelt probably will wind up the campaign with his traditional and always spectacular election-eve address in Madison Square Garden, New York, and that he may make a second speech somewhere in that state.

Asked at his press conference, however, Mr. Roosevelt said he had no plans for speeches beyond next Thursday. It was observed that he did not say he would end his speaking campaign this week, but merely refused to confirm the presumably well-founded opinion of his campaign manager.

Allies Slug Toward Key River Position In All-out Assaults

By JAMES M. LONG

LONDON, Oct. 2 (AP) — The U. S. first army launched a big push toward the Rhine from its positions penetrating the Siegfried line in the Aachen area today.

Ending a stalemate of almost two weeks, in which German counter-attacks were beaten off while the mighty punch was prepared, Lieut. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' warriors began one of the greatest combined air and land assaults of the European campaign against the entrenched enemy.

The attack was preceded by a heavily concentrated artillery barrage and by a thunderous drumbeat of thudding bombs from hundreds of medium and fighter bombers.

Racing out of gray cloudy skies at about 9 a. m., the planes dropped hundreds of tons of explosives on nazi pillboxes and gunposts while in scores of nearby French, Belgian and Netherlands villages the people watched the silver-winged armada unloading its bombs on Adolf Hitler's west wall.

Doughboys Attack

Hardly had the ground stopped shaking from the bombardment before Hodges' veteran doughboys crashed forward through the smoke and rubble.

The attack was launched at a new sector of the Siegfried line near Aachen where the Americans already had pierced the enemy defense belt at three places, front line dispatches said.

"I doubt if they will stop now until they have reached the Rhine," one correspondent said.

The new offensive abruptly ended a week of see-saw fighting along the 450-mile allied front from Holland to the Belfort gap, in which Americans and British turned back scores of sharp enemy counter-attacks and forged ahead a few miles in nearly all sectors. Some of these gains yesterday were up to three and four miles.

Warned of Attack

It followed enemy warnings for several days that the allies were preparing powerful blows in the Aachen area, the Nijmegen corridor held by the British to the north, and in the Moselle and Belfort areas to the south.

Yesterday Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's supreme headquarters broadcast to Austrians "to prepare for the arrival of the allies."

The seventh army, fighting forward a few hundred yards, had edged into the western entrance of the Belfort gap in the sector nearest Austria.

The British yesterday crushed two of the strongest German counter-attacks, attacks which were aim-

2,700 Planes Attack In Advance of Drive

LONDON, Oct. 2 (AP)—More than 2,700 allied warplanes struck in close and deep support today of the great new American offensive against the Siegfried line in the Aachen sector of northwest Germany.

Over 1,000 medium and fighter bombers blazed a path into the nazi wall immediately before Lieut. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' men.

About 900 Flying Fortresses with 500 escorts tore at targets around Cologne and Kassel while 300 Liberators poured bomb loads into Germany's greatest freight yards at Hamm, 90 miles northeast of Aachen.

Cologne, fifth city of greater Germany with 768,000 people, is 30 miles east of Aachen, near where the American first army was attacking the Siegfried line today. The Prussian city on the Rhine is one of Hitler's greatest arsenals and also is a communication center for supplying the northern end of the German front.

Some 500 Mustangs and Thunderbolts convoyed the Flying Fortresses to and from the German cities.

Marauders and fighter bombers shook the ground around Aachen for miles around with blows at pillboxes, gun positions and troop concentrations, front reports said.

NAZI ATTACKS IN ITALY BROKEN UP

ROME, Oct. 2 (AP)—Americans of the fifth army yesterday beat back German counter-attacks on Monte Battaglia, lofty dominating height on the road to Imola, for the fourth straight day and captured neighboring Monte Cappella after a bitter battle, the allied command announced today.

The skies over most of the Italian front cleared after a nearly a week of frequent rains, enabling the Mediterranean allied air force to take an active role supporting the doughboys.

At least one enemy attempt to counter-attack was broken up by a bombing attack and other German concentrations of artillery positions were assaulted from the air with effective results.

On the Adriatic sector there were heavy patrol engagements as the eighth army cleared the last of the nazis from Savignano and struck on across the Fiumicino, where the enemy was occupying the far bank in strength.

Farther to the southwest British units advancing beyond Montalbano reached the Fiumicino's banks. The enemy dug in and was supported by self-propelled artillery on the far banks of the river.

Southwest of Tribola the eighth army began attacking Monte Reggiano and Borgh.

Americans of other fifth army units were encountering strong enemy shelling as well as thick minefields as they inched forward through the mountains.

IDAHO NOMINEES TO RENEW DRIVE

By United Press

Idaho political office seekers paused for breath Saturday and Sunday after a week of campaign oratory, leaving it up to party chairmen and interested noncontenders to carry on the fight, but were scheduled to begin another full week of ardent "stumping" today.

The ball was kept rolling for the Democrats in Boise Sunday by C. Ben Ross, Parma, Idaho's only three-time governor, who denounced the administration of Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen, Republican candidate for the senate, and urged the election of Glen Taylor, his Democratic opponent in an address to the Independent Voters' league.

Ross, famous for his colorful oratory and informal speaking manner, spoke extemporaneously, waving aloft a copy of the "Idaho Senator," a miniature "newspaper" mailed out to voters by Bottolfsen as campaign advertising.

He attacked Bottolfsen for vetoing the senior citizens' grants act (providing for old age pensions) after its passage as an initiative measure and quoted the governor as once referring to the bill as "a mandate of the people" and then "proceeding to veto it." Ross said Bottolfsen had served two terms as governor "without ever rising to meet an issue."

DeGaulle Pledges Planned Economy

LONDON, Oct. 2 (U.P.) — Gen. Charles DeGaulle and his government were committed today to a "planned economy" program for the reconstruction of France, including state control of all resources and an equal share of national income for every Frenchman.

The extensive social program was outlined in a speech at his native city of Lille, industrial center of northern France, and broadcast by the Lille and Paris radios.

(A Paris radio broadcast, recorded by FCC, said De Gaulle returned to Paris by automobile last night.)

COMMANDOS HIT ON GREEK ISLES

LONDON, Oct. 2 (U.P.) — British broadcasts reported today that British commandos had struck what may be the first blow of an allied campaign in Greece by liberating three Greek islands, one of them only six miles from the mainland.

A BBC correspondent in Cairo said the commandos landed without opposition on Kythera, six miles from the southernmost tip of the Greek province of Pelopennesus, and on two other islands whose names were withheld for security reasons.

Fate Not Disclosed

The fate of the German garrisons was not disclosed, but it was believed the enemy troops either escaped by sea before the commandos landed or were killed or captured by Greek patriots.

BBC said inhabitants of Kythera reported that 150 Germans on that island destroyed their installations several days ago preparatory to departing. Greek patriots shot up several German boats while they were waiting for air and submarine escorts, BBC said, but it did not reveal what proportion of the garrison actually escaped.

The British commandos were given a "tremendous welcome" by Kythera's inhabitants, BBC said.

New Landing Seen

The landings raised the possibility that the allied command may envision an ultimate landing in southern Greece to tighten the growing encirclement of perhaps 200,000 Germans in Greece, Albania and southern Yugoslavia.

The German flanks already were being squeezed together by allied troops who landed in Albania and on Dalmatian islands, Marshal Tito's partisan army in Yugoslavia and red armies in Yugoslavia, Rumania and Bulgaria.

SUN VALLEY HAS 1944 ICE FOLLIES

SUN VALLEY, Oct. 2—On Wednesday, Oct. 4, the Sun Valley skaters will present their second annual ice show, "Ice Frolics of 1944."

Composed almost entirely of naval personnel who have taken to the steel blades during their stay here, the show will move through a series of production numbers and skating specialties.

Director of the frolics is Pete Q. Killam, former professional skater with the Sonja Henie troupe and star of the Hotel New Yorker ice show in New York City. He will skate by request a repeat number used in the last ice show at Sun Valley, the Latin "Carioca." Following this, he will interpret on ice George Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue."

Intricate baton twirling and regimental maneuvers are featured in "I Love a Parade" starring Mona Mordl, Hailey, and a skating ensemble.

Bleachers will be erected around the ice rink making a seating capacity of 1,600, and curtain time will be at 8:30 p. m. Visitors from as far as Boise and Twin Falls are expected.

Magic Valley on Top in Ram Sale

Magic Valley topped the annual Pocatello ram sale in three categories, leading all other sections of the state, Col. E. O. Walter, veteran auctioneer, said Monday before leaving for Colorado.

Frank L. Stephan, Twin Falls, topped the lamb division of Hampshires for the third consecutive year. He received $55 each for a pen of six, Laidlaw and Brockie, Muldoon breeders, led in Panamas and Suffolks. The Blaine county concern received $90 per animal for a pen of six Panamas, and $85 each for a pen of six Suffolk lambs.

Robert Binstock, Filer, managed the sale. He also is manager of the annual Filer ram sale. Both are sponsored by the Idaho Wool Growers association.

Walker said that 810 head sold at Pocatello averaged $45.25, slightly lower than a year ago and lower than the Filer sale average. The Filer auctioneer now goes to the Colorado ram sale at Craig, Colo., his final ram auction of the season. Colorado will be the 19th state in which he has conducted such sales this year.

YANKS OPEN NEW DRIVE FOR RHINE

Foe Says Back

The Germans agged back into the defense, after the ruin of these greatest counter-attacks since Caen in Normandy, and reported he will be starting a fighting retreat from the Dutch coastal loop where 200,000 enemy soldiers may be in danger of entrapment.

About three German divisions were reported resisting Canadian advances along a 30-mile sector of the Antwerp-Turnhout canal and the Dutch frontier to the west.

Elsewhere today advanced Allied infantrants of the Dutch islands in the estuary of the Schelde, west of Antwerp, to evacuate the islands immediately in view of the likelihood of an "severe and prolonged aerial bombardment." Big naval guns on the islands of Walcheren and Zuid Beveland still block allied use of Antwerp port.

Led by Armor

Led by hard-fighting armor, the British drove four miles north of the village of Oss, at the northwestern corner of their salient to the Maas (Meuse), and organized troops commanding the nazi defense line three miles east of S'Hertogenbosch. The Germans said this armored unit was Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's old "desert rat" seventh division which helped chase Field Marshal Erwin Rommel across Africa.

It was through S'Hertogenbosch that the Germans were attempting to keep open a safety valve between the British cutoff and the broad Holland, deep, an estuary of the Maas.

A correspondent reported increasing signs of a pull-out through this tightening gap of tens of thousands of German troops still in southwestern Holland.

Strike for Bridge

Still striking for the long Nijmegen bridge across the Waal Rhine, the Germans sent tanks, flamethrowers and infantry beating against the Grenadier line northeast and southeast of the city, but they were broken up by rocket-firing Typhoon attacks. British heavy guns and infantry steel.

Some groups of 13 to 20 infiltrated into the British lines but they were being sliced out today.

Allied troops pushed northward out of Antwerp, capturing the village of Brecht, 11 miles northeast of Antwerp, and 17 miles from Breda in Holland.

To the southwest of the new Arnhem offensive Americans captured the seventh century Luxembourg border town of Grevenmacher, 15 miles northeast of the city of Luxembourg and 12 miles southwest of Trier.

Pullen Slugs Foe

Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's third army slugged it out with strong German counter-attacks near Jallaucourt, 16 miles northeast of Nancy, in a four-hour fight in which 19 nazi tanks were knocked out—bringing Patton's total to 138 in the last four days.

Then, almost over the same ground, the third slammed its way forward from three miles clear through the Forest of Dremey to the high ground around Preaux en Saunois, a mile beyond Jallaucourt, and to hills overlooking Couture, only one mile west of Chateau-Salins.

The seventh army, just to the south, still was digging into stiff German resistance through rugged, wooded, sniper-infested foothills of the Vosges mountains. But the Germans had given up their sharp counter-attacks there and were back hammering at it with artillery.

Yanks Advance

The Americans pushed on a few hundred yards east of Epinal and St. Jean du Marche 11 miles southeast of Epinal and 19 miles from Bonhomme pass, one of the main passages through the Vosges, was captured.

French forces, their advance bitterly contested around Mont-Belard where Germans have edged back to the Belfort gap from the south, also were held to gains of a few hundred yards.

German artillery and mortar fire was making the going particularly hard since main column advances were restricted to the roads because of the hills and woods.

IDAHO NOMINEES TO RENEW DRIVE

(From Page One)

"I don't know just what it is," said Ross, "but this man Lucky Baldwin thing. Before he was elected the first time he told you people he would favor this bill (the grants act) to take care of you in your old age, but not six days after he was elected the bankers, powerful newspapers and other lame interests started putting pressure on him to veto it.

"But didn't want to veto that bill because he knew all you people would be mad—but he just wasn't quite man enough to stand up under pressure of the big interests."

Statements Issued

Meanwhile both party chairmen issued statements and announced extensive speaking tours for their candidates during the coming week.

Democratic Chairman Dan Bush urged mobilization of all Idaho party workers to listen to President Roosevelt's speech Oct. 5 and inaugurate an "all-out" drive for victory in November.

Republican Vern Thorpe, in his statement, urged voters to give thorough consideration to the five constitutional amendments providing for longer terms for state officials and revision of the prison control and pardoning set-up.

RUSSIA EXPECTED TO WAR ON JAPAN

Manchuria which is a neighbor of Russia's far eastern port of Vladivostok.

3. The sooner the war in the far east is finished the sooner Russia will be able to begin reconstruction of her devastated western areas where more than three years of war with Germany have been fought.

Some Relaxation

Although there will be considerable relaxation of war production in the United States and Britain after Germany surrenders, there will be little in the way of durable goods in either country for export until the Japanese war is over. While half of the world is at war, there will be little chance for Russia to put her rehabilitation program into full swing.

There is also a fourth—and probably the most important—argument to support reasoning that Russia will help defeat Japan. That is China.

The Soviet government has never hidden its dislike of the nationalist government headed by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. It has been outspokenly critical of it, a factor not lost to the world in light of recent weeks here because of the separate conferences on world security with Dumbarton Oaks for the Russians and Chinese.

Wants Peace Voice

Most far eastern observers here believe that Premier Josef Stalin will not want to stand by without any voice in far east peace negotiations while Chiang sits on the councils with an equal voice with the United States and Great Britain.

Most of these sources agree, however, that Russia will not commit herself in the far east until American, British and Chinese forces are closer to a coup de grace against Japan than they are now—especially in China itself. Some believe that the Russian decision may be withheld until large-scale forces have been landed on the China coast.

WOMEN IN YOUR 40's
Are You Embarrassed By HOT FLASHES?
If you, like so many women, between the ages of 38 and 52—suffer from hot flashes, nervousness, irritability, are a bit blue at times—all due to the functional middle age period peculiar to women—try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms.
For almost a century thousands upon thousands of women—rich and poor alike—have written grateful, notable benefits. Many wise women take Pinkham's Compound regularly to help build up resistance against such annoying distress.
Lydia Pinkham's Compound helps nature. It also has what Doctors call a stomachic tonic effect. Follow label directions. Worth trying!

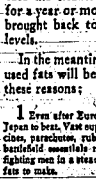
TO AMERICAN WOMEN ASKING—
"Will Defeat of Germany Lessen the Need for Saving Used Fats?"
—THE GOVERNMENT ANSWERS "NO!"



LEE MARSHALL

ON THE contrary, Mrs. America, the need for saving used cooking fats will be as great or greater than ever.

Victory over Germany still leaves the Japs in possession of the Dutch East Indies, the Philippines and Malaya—countries from which we formerly imported about one billion pounds of fats and oils each year.

Even victory over Japan will not ease the situation immediately. Not for a year or more can these areas be brought back to pre-war production levels.

In the meantime, the need for your used fats will be as acute as ever for these reasons:

1 Even after European victory, we still have Japan to beat. Vast supplies of ammunition, medicines, parachutes, rubber boots, soaps and other battlefield essentials must keep on going to our fighting men in a steady stream. These all require fats to make.

2 We must help in the rehabilitation of liberated countries, such as Greece, Norway and the Netherlands, with medicines, machinery, etc.

3 Many factories now producing for war will turn to manufacturing the civilian goods we need so urgently. These factories will consume vast quantities of industrial fats.

American farmers are doing everything possible to build up domestic production of fats and oils. But during the next 12 months, because of a smaller hog kill and reduced fields of some oil-seed crops, we expect that approximately a billion-and-a-third pounds less of fats will be produced.

Need Greater Than Ever

Therefore, more than ever, salvaging used cooking fats is an important resource on which the country must continue to lean in order to tide us over.

Saving used fats is not a glamorous task. It takes effort. But it is one that only you, the American housewife, can perform for the country. We ask you to continue the wonderful job you are doing to help speed final Victory.

Girl Flier Who Trained Locally Operates School

Two young women—including one from Twin Falls who gained her first flying experience at the local field—are now operating a flight school at Kellogg, according to word received here.

The local girl who is now making her living operating the school and giving flight instruction is Marie Lockhart. Her partner, Beulah Keister, is a native of Kellogg.

The two operators, who own four training planes and a four-place ship used for charter trips, received a good part of their training while instructing navy V-5 cadets at Pelts field, Sweetwater. Each girl has over 1,500 hours of flight time.

Miss Lockhart is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Lockhart, former Twin Falls residents now living at Ogden. Her brother, Harold, who graduated from the local high school in 1942, is now an army air cadet and is training at Santa Ana, Calif.

Oiling to Start At Airport Here

The dusty days in front of privately owned hangars at the local municipal airport are about ended, and owners announced Monday that plans had been completed for oiling the hangar front strip.

Under city supervision, the strip was leveled and graveled but the individual hangar owners will be assessed $120 each for the oiling, which was to start Monday.

The oil will be spread by the Hooes Construction company in front of about seven hangars.

BURLEY CHAMBER URGES ROAD JOBS

BURLEY, Oct. 2 — Burley Chamber of Commerce has recommended and approved a group of seven postwar projects which will be immediately submitted to the state highway department for incorporation in the state postwar plan.

Number one in the group of road construction jobs is the building of a four-lane concrete bridge with pedestrian walk at one side, across Snake river at the north end of Overland avenue. In connection with this bridge plan is a project to build a road west from the bridge to connect with the north side highway west of Emerson school, a distance of 14 miles, which would save a considerable distance of driving for Emerson residents.

Number two project will be the completion of the highway from Albion to Conner Creek, to connect with the Malta-Elba highway.

Third project is a farm-to-market road to start on Eleventh street, run to West street and then south on the old Oakley highway to the Leon Dillette farm in section five, township 11, range 22, east of the Boise meridian.

Fourth project is a road from Oakley to Basin, about five miles.

Fifth is a road from the James Tilley corner in Starks Ferry, east to the Frank Pace corner, about five and one-half miles.

Project number six is a road from Oakley northwest to the boundary of Minidoka national forest.

Number seven is the highway from Paul or Rupert, north to Kimama and then to the Sawtooth area.

A committee on industrial sites is now at work preparing for a report on postwar potentialities.

CAP Calls off Deer Hunt Flight

Low hanging clouds and threatening weather over the Minidoka forest and mountains Sunday caused CAP squadron members to call off their scheduled deer counting flight and a flight to Gooding airport was made instead.

En route to Gooding the six-plane flight observed construction work now underway at the Jerome airport, which has not been used for sometime.

Pilots for Sunday's flight were Lieut. Harry Harris, flight leader; Lieut. Merritt Shotwell, Pvt. Gene Sister, Pvt. Lamoine Stevens, Pvt. Dick Howard and Pvt. Jenny Stewart. Observers were WO Arnie Osland, Pvt. Ted Smith and Pvt. Ed McCarty.

Various cadets, including members of the new C flight from Kimberly, were given indoctrination flights in the army "grasshopper." Members of A, B and C flights also participated in drill and physical exercise.

Castleford Soldier Wins Purple Heart

CASTLEFORD, Oct. 2—Pvt. Walter Partin, former resident of Castleford, has received the purple heart medal for wounds received in combat at the Anzio beachhead in Italy.

He was hospitalized Feb. 17, and after being released from the hospital, he took part in the battle for Rome and the "D" day invasion of France.

Twin Falls to Be Subject of GI Radio Skit

Twin Falls GI's overseas are going to get a direct message from home-in-an-overseas radio broadcast in the "Home Town Profiles" series provided by the morale division, army service forces.

Lieut. Earl B. Steele, New York, director of the army news service, a part of the division, Monday requested a comprehensive picture of Twin Falls today and as it is expected to be when the home town boys return around which to build such a program for overseas use.

Lieutenant Steele emphasized that this program in the series is to be devoted entirely to Twin Falls and will try to include just what the boys overseas would like to know about their home town.

Cub Scouts Have 'Harvest' Meeting

"Harvest Time," theme of the pack meeting held Friday night at the Washington school auditorium by the Cubs, was represented by exhibits of flowers, fruit and vegetable from members' victory gardens.

Graduation of Cub Fred Seal from the Cubs to the Boy Scout organization was featured. Fred, who has reached his 11th birthday was presented to Scoutmaster William Rappleye, troop No. 59. Cub Billy Seal received his membership card, and Cubs Richard Shotwell and Bill Ostrander were awarded their wolf badges.

After a short business meeting, dens of the pack presented stunts appropriate to the harvest theme. Several new Cubs applied for membership, and will be admitted at the next pack meeting.

Thanksgiving to Be on Nov. 30th

BOISE, Oct. 2 (AP)—Idaho will celebrate Thanksgiving day this year on Nov. 30, Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen said Saturday. The legislature in 1943 set the date of the holiday as the last Thursday in November.

Since the confusion over the date which started in 1939 when President Roosevelt asked that it be observed on the third Thursday in November, Idaho has celebrated on the traditional day twice and on the President's date three times.

The governor said he would issue his proclamation later.

U OF I DEAD IN WAR REACH 100

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Oct. 2—One hundred gold stars now appear on the University of Idaho World war II service flag, according to a tabulation by Mabel E. Gill, secretary to the university war records committee. This is nearly three times the number of gold stars on the university service flag for World war I, during which 32 university alumni and students gave their lives. In addition to the dead, the university casualty list shows 22 missing in action and 44 prisoners of war.

Thirty-two University of Idaho men have been killed in the Pacific and Asiatic area, 20 in the African and European areas, while 48 met their death in plane crashes in the United States. Illness claimed six, accidents other than plane crashes two, while the causes of the death of two are unknown. Fifty-three of those killed were in the air corps, 25 in the infantry, 11 in the marines, and seven in the navy. Rank and branch of service of four are not known.

Ranks Listed

The rank and branch of service of the dead are as follows:

Air corps—Three majors, three captains, 12 first lieutenants, 23 second lieutenants, and 12 noncommissioned.

Infantry—One brigadier-general, one colonel, eight captains, seven first lieutenants, four second lieutenants, four non-commissioned.

Marines—One major, two captains, one first lieutenant, one second lieutenant, six non-commissioned.

Navy—One lieutenant commander, two lieutenants, junior grade, three ensigns, one non-commissioned.

Some Prisoners

Of the 22 missing in action, 15 were in the European area and seven in the Pacific. Eighteen of those missing are air corps men, two are in the navy and two in the infantry.

Twenty-six of the University of Idaho men in prisoner of war camps are in the hands of the Japanese, 18 being in German camps.

The war record files at the University of Idaho contain the names of 3,412 alumni and students in military service. A news letter is issued regularly by the war records office for them. Letters from university students in all parts of the world praise this letter as a first-class "morale builder."

CASTLEFORD

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Lewis have received word from their son, Glenn, that he has been sent across from California, where he had previously been stationed.

A/C Robert L. Brown, son of the late Walter Brown, is now stationed at Blackland army air field, Waco, Tex. He had previously trained at the Bonham Aviation school, Bonham, Tex., and Perrin field, Tex.

Mrs. Carroll Mallory, who has been visiting here for the past 10 days, has left for Hermosa Beach, Calif., where she will visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Clement. Mrs. Joe Becker and son and Mrs. Minnie McBride accompanied Mrs. Mallory there. Following a 10-day visit at the Clements' home they will return to their home here. Mrs. Mallory will remain for an indefinite visit.

Mrs. Mable Mosely, San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Nordling and daughter, Boise; Mrs. Leroy Gager, Centralia, Wash., and Claude Gager, Magna, Utah, have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Runyon. They were called here due to the death of Mrs. Roy W. Gager, their mother.

The Rev. Isaac Todd, pastor of the First Baptist church of Castleford, said there will be 10 delegates from here at the annual state convention at the Baptist church in Buhl.

AMM 1/c Callie Houk, who has been stationed for the past two years at Corpus Christi, Tex., has recently been transferred to Norfolk, Va.

Castleford Grange May Purchase Hall

CASTLEFORD, Oct. 2 — Master Ray Baxter presided over the Castleford Grange. During the business meeting topics under discussion were the purchase of property for a permanent Grange hall and the selling of hot lunches at winter farm sales in this community.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Ona Sample and Mrs. Nora West. The next meeting will be held Oct. 12 in the home economics room.

TO MAKE the evening's dinner appetizingly different, why not bake some drop biscuits? Very little time is required!

DROP BISCUITS

Follow your regular 2-cup recipe for baking-powder biscuits, but use enough milk (about a cup) so mixture will drop from teaspoon in an ungreased baking tin. Bake in a hot oven (450° F.) for 12 to 15 minutes. Makes about 16 biscuits.

Even more appetizing drop biscuits result if you add ½ cup of raisins or chopped nutmeats or diced cheese to the mixture before stirring it. Or, use tomato juice instead of milk for the moistener!

And for dessert, how about

ICED APPLE DUMPLINGS

Using a standard pastry recipe, roll the pastry ⅛-inch thick and cut into 6 squares. Pare, core and quarter 6 whole medium-sized cooking apples; remove cores and place one apple in the center of each pastry square. Fill each core hole with brown sugar, and a dash of cinnamon and nutmeg, and ½ tbsp. butter or margarine. Dampen edges of pastry, and draw up around apples, pressing securely together. With sharp knife cut slash, prick dough well all over. Place in well-greased drip pan. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 15 minutes. Reduce heat to moderate oven (350° F.) and bake 45 minutes or until done, basting every 15 minutes with syrup made by boiling 1 cup granulated sugar, ½ cup water, and 2 tbsps. butter or margarine for 5 minutes. Frost tops immediately with medium-thick powdered sugar butter icing.

OUR PEACETIME ARMY

Until very recently, peacetime military training was probably as unpopular a proposal as an American could put forward. It has always raised the cry of "militarism." Popular opposition to it, along with faith in our geographical inviolability, made our defenses woefully weak at the start of two world wars, and forced us to go through the costly process of improvising a citizen army at a time when every single day counted.

The lessons of this war may cause a part of popular opinion to take a full swing in the opposite direction. Maybe this is natural and inevitable, but it isn't good. Overemphasis on military force is as dangerous as unpreparedness, and needs as careful watching. And overemphasis seems to be the keynote of a recent statement by Sen. Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma on the size of our postwar armed forces.

Senator Thomas favors a minimum force of 2,000,000 men for as long as 10 years after hostilities end—750,000 each for the navy and air forces, and 500,000 for the army. His reason is that "we expect Germany and Japan to be disarmed and kept disarmed," which is a reason no one will quarrel with. But we wonder if a long-term police force of 2,000,000 is either necessary or desirable.

Certainly it has its dangers. For one thing, the other great powers could rightfully insist on proportionally large peacetime armies. That would give Russia a force of about 2,700,000, and Britain nearly a half million. A five million-plus police force should hardly be necessary to keep a beaten axis in line. But it could cause trouble.

Such a force would be a tremendous public expense. And 2,000,000 men in uniform would be a powerful political force. It would be too much to hope that politics and the military could be kept separate, and the effect of such a union on the national defense would not be healthy.

If we should insist on bringing an armed force of this size into an international peace organization, we should bring with it the inference that military might was the first and greatest hope for maintaining peace, rather than the last resort.

Congress might do better, in considering universal training and other military legislation, to study again the deep wisdom of General Marshall's recommendation for peacetime defense—a recommendation which stated and offered proof that a large standing army has no place among the institutions of a modern democratic state," and which eloquently urged a small professional army with a large body of trained citizen reserves.

WE NEED HARVEST MANPOWER

This is the time of year when the great flood of harvest starts moving off the farms in Magic Valley on its way to warehouses and freight cars.

The approach of that flood has many buyers and operators of warehouses on the verge of panic because of an unprecedented shortage of labor. In trying to get crews together to handle various details of the work to be done, they find themselves next to helpless.

This raises a question that calls for a logical answer. Are the potatoes, beans and other farm products produced in Magic Valley an essential factor in the war effort, or are they of little importance in comparison to the war industries?

That question is predicated on what appears to be an all-out emphasis on the recruitment of labor for these war industries with almost a total disregard of agriculture's labor needs.

In recent weeks, the United States Employment service, War Manpower commission and representatives of several large industrial firms manufacturing war goods have combed the woods in Magic Valley for industrial workers, with the result that little harvest help is available.

If these farm products are a vital factor in the war effort, this condition would seem to demand that at least some percentage of available labor should be steered into the channels of agriculture, instead of milking the valley dry of all such manpower.

As one potato buyer, frantic in his attempts to organize sorting crews, has pointed out, it would seem only reasonable that recruiting campaigns for industrial labor would be conducted in areas where the harvest season is over, instead of concentrating on sections of the country, such as ours, where the demands for harvest help are just approaching their peak.

When Hitler said the Germans would run the world he probably only meant they would run (period), — Wichita Eagle.

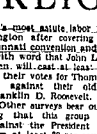
TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

A Mainstay of America

MONEY—America's most astute labor reporter has returned to Washington after covering the United Mine Workers' Cincinnati convention and visiting the anthracite regions with word that John L. Lewis' coal men will cast at least 75 per cent of their votes for Thomas E. Dewey as against their old champion, Franklin D. Roosevelt.



Ray Tucker

Other surveys bear out his warning that this group has turned against the President after giving him at least 80 per cent of its ballots in 1932, 1936 and 1940.

Despite this latest information from the coal fields, it is quite probable that F. D. R. will command about 60 per cent of these votes. In future speeches he will aim his remarks directly at the workingmen, reminding them of the reforms he has sponsored for their benefit.

But it so happens that the President cannot suffer even a 30 per cent loss in his class of the electorate and carry such key states as Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky and possibly Ohio. In all those areas John L.'s admirers may have and exercise the balance of power.

Mr. Roosevelt did not help himself with this body when he took a parenthetical shot at the Wealthman in his address before Dan Tobin's A. F. of L. teamsters. The miners know that their big boss got them wage increases despite Roosevelt-Byrnes-Vinson opposition. And with them, as with everyone else, "money talks."

RAMPAGE—Mr. Lewis came out belatedly for Wendell Willkie in 1940, but only halfheartedly. His support of the former Democrat and Wall streeter was born of his hatred for Franklin D. Roosevelt. He told the Republican leaders on the eve of election that his anti-Roosevelt tirade might not affect a single vote.

But it did. In many anthracite and bituminous counties the President's vote dropped far below the numbers he obtained in 1932 and 1936. Thousands of coal miners followed their leader. This time John L. has had more than a year to conduct his propaganda against the White House. His official journals have been filled with the most virulent kind of anti-Roosevelt poison.

The U. M. W. chieftain, by prearrangement, has not openly endorsed Gov. Thomas E. Dewey. They judged that public backing by Mr. Lewis might be the "kiss of death" to the G. O. P. candidate. John L. is a smarter politico now than he was four years ago. And the New York governor anticipates Wendell Willkie in the political field so completely that it is not even funny. Wendell was an amateur; Dewey is a professional.

Here are a few cold figures which show why John L. Lewis may swing the balance of power in the presidential contest: He has 225,000 members in Pennsylvania, 75,000 in "Dear Alben Barkley's Kentucky, 140,000 in West Virginia; around 40,000 in Ohio and 30,000 in Illinois.

If, as the unnamed labor reporter who happens to be a new dealer personally says, John L. is going on the rampage against Roosevelt, the President faces a really tough fight for reelection.

PROBLEM — The possible loss of thousands of American and British soldiers in the Arnhem trap has provided opponents of peace with Germany believed so near collapse, the question arises as to why the allies should have endangered their troops in such a daring movement. Here is the comforting answer from the high command.

Despite early reports that the Siegfried line is obsolete, it has proved to be a formidable barrier. Our largest shells have battered like rubber balls from its mortar, artillery and machine gun emplacements. Our tanks can destroy the 30-mile-deep fortifications, but it would take many months, perhaps years, for these armored vehicles to smash Hitler's carefully planned defenses.

We can wipe them out by the use of flame throwers, which kill the men hiding behind the opposing positions. But allied fighters handling this lethal weapon must approach to within a few hundred feet of the enemy lines. They are perfect targets for hostile fire.

After studying this tactical problem for several weeks, Generals Eisenhower, Montgomery and Bradley decided that their best chance to overcome it was to flank the west-wall to the north, break into the plains, render a German stand at that spot futile and consume the Ruhr area, which provides Hitler with his weapons of war.

This strategical plan was laid before President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill when they met at Quebec. Although the main battle is engaging the bloody, outflanking movements was to be composed of Britishers and Canadians, the British statesman said, "Go ahead, Montgomery!"

VIEWS OF OTHERS

ROOSEVELT OR DEWEY

Contrary to the wild mouthings in the labor press and by the critics of newspapers, Roosevelt is not being opposed—by a majority of the nation's newspapers in his campaign for reelection, nor is Dewey being supported by any such majority.

A factual survey of the daily press in the United States, just completed by Editor & Publisher, shows that Mr. Roosevelt is being supported editorially by 20.8 per cent of the newspapers representing 13.9 per cent of the nation's circulation.

At the same time Mr. Dewey has the support of 57.9 per cent of the newspapers accounting for 63.7 per cent of the nation's circulation. The remaining 21.5 per cent of the dailies, totalling 22.4 of the circulation, are still undecided as to whom they support, or they prefer to remain neutral. Many comments explaining the neutral position were received with the ballot, except as "dislike the new deal, but not Roosevelt," and "waiting to see what Dewey's foreign policy is," or "opposed to the Roosevelt foreign policy, but not Dewey."

For years, politicians and labor leaders have attacked the press with guess work figures.

It is hope that every newspaper, no matter who its favorite presidential candidate is, will use the authentic figures to set the record straight for the benefit of the entire American press when the local "Seldes" and "Lundbergs" rise to speak.—Editor & Publisher Magazine.

HELP WANTED!

Someone should immediately found a Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to GI Joe. As if the poor fellow didn't have enough to worry about just now the war department (Safety Div.) has just issued a booklet of instructions for Joe on the mysteries of women! This booklet, "Do You Want Your Wife to Work After the War?" has been published with the ostensible purpose of giving GI Joe information that has been kept secret since the day the sphinx was unveiled.

But the real purpose may be determined by revealing that one section of this subversive pamphlet actually deals with the need for assisting wives to wash and dry dishes.

Can you imagine the effect on the boys overseas just as they are beginning to dream of returning home? As the war department trying to slow down demobilization?

Drying dishes indeed! Why doesn't our military master of manners advise Joe to stand up firmly for his masculine rights and, if his wife won't reject the tea towel and insist on freedom to splash in the dishpan.—Christian Science Monitor.

AN INHUMANE PROPOSAL

The Russian delegation to the UNRRA conference at Quebec, in proposing that the extent of their contribution to the allied cause be made the measure of relief granted to the suffering people of Europe, has made a suggestion that is repugnant in the extreme.

Americans have never used a string to their response to the need of fellow human beings in their misery.

That is the measure of the relief that should be given to people who are hungry, ill, cold and homeless, except the measure of their need.

The Russian leaders and the Russian people can help our leaders and people to do what should be done to the war criminals by hardening our hearts enough when they become too soft. But they risk attaining American approval and losing American support for their views when they offer a proposal which we are bound to regard as inhumane and unthinkable.—St. Louis-Post-Dispatch.

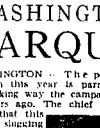
"WASHINGTON CALLING" BY MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — The political campaign this year is paralleling in a striking way the campaign of four years ago. The chief difference is that this time the slugging has been much earlier.



Marquis Childs

Wendell Willkie made the same charge that Governor Dewey is making — that Roosevelt had failed to prepare the country for the peril of war which then seemed imminent. And the President replied with the same cry of "isolationism."

In 1940, it was not until almost the end of the campaign that FDR opened up. He seemed to feel then a greater confidence than he feels today. Willkie, a newcomer in politics, had rushed into his campaign like a bewildered bull in the china shop, with resultant crashes and cries on every hand.

Sitting in the White House alone with a friend, one night, Roosevelt analyzed Willkie's mistakes. It was the old electric personality, with an air of tolerant condescension, the mistakes of the amateur.

"Willkie is talking too much," the President said, "What you want to do is strike a chord. Then you wait. Then you strike the same chord again. Once a limited number of notes, but you make those known and understood."

Dewey at this time may be making other mistakes, but he has not thus far repeated the Willkie error of talking too much. In fact, he seems to like the army and navy of which Roosevelt's book with this continuing emphasis on a few themes. The most effective repetition is Dewey's "It's time for a change." Slogans like that stick in the public mind where more complicated discussion seldom does.

Men around the President are urging him to repeat whole passages from speeches made at Madison Square Garden on Oct. 29, 1940. In that address he rallied to the Republican charge that he had not prepared the country's defense. He went further, however, and carried the attack into the Republican camp.

* * *

The printed pages of the Congressional Record cannot be changed or suppressed at election time," the President said, "And based on that permanent record of their speeches and their votes, I make this assertion—that if the Republican leaders had been in control of the congress of the United States during the past seven years the important measures for our defense would not now be law, and the army and navy of the United States would still be in almost the same condition in which I found them in 1933."

The President will undoubtedly say something like that before he signs off. And the record on Republican votes supports him. The fact is, of course, that many in both parties showed a mulish reluctance to face realities. Continuation of the draft passed the house in the fall of 1941 by a margin of only one vote. On balance, however, more Democrats than Republicans went along with the measures proposed by the President.

Truth in any presidential year is a harried, dusty creature, given slight shelter only by those privileged to stand outside the battle lines. That's a good thing to remember in this particular year, when so much would seem to depend on at least a kind of unity.

* * *

It is Willkie's privilege in 1944 to speak his mind without political reservations. In an article in Colliers, he denounced both parties for their cowardice on foreign policy in their respective Chicago platforms. Now in a second one soon to be released, he takes up the stand of the two parties on the Negro question.

Willkie is still in a New York hospital recovering from a complete physical and nervous exhaustion. The prospect is that he will be there throughout the campaign, although he is in periodic rebellion against the order to keep quiet.

Wherever the credit should go, and only history can decide that, the acts are winning this war. This is something to remember, too, as the campaign cross fire rages on.

Hurt by Fascists, Ryan Back in U.S.

BURLEY, Oct. 2 — Sgt. Eugene Ryan, former high school speech instructor—has landed in Coral Gables, Fla., and is temporarily hospitalized.

He had been in an army hospital in Italy since mid-May when he was beaten up, especially about the head, and left to die during an uprising of fascists in Naples. He has undergone a long series of operations and treatment and is having trouble with one eye.

He hopes to come west for a visit soon.

—THE ARGUMENT WAXES

Dear Pots:

Just a line to the argumentative Gooding gent. He gives a farmer (what was that word he used?) for only paying him $60 a month, letting their garden rot rather than give them any, same with eggs, chickens, etc. Gives him no milk, no garden spot, no nothing. Mr. Gooding, are you going to give dumb farmers (that naughty word again) for paying their man $150 a month, furnishing them a new three room house with running water, lights, coal, milk, cream, eggs, garden spot, electricity for iron and washer, partly furnished house, etc., and goes on to say they deserve it.

Gee, now Pots, I know farmers are dumb, but Billy the Kid, I still say (maybe) you've got something.

FAMOUS LAST LINE

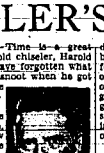
THE GENTLEMAN IN THE THIRD ROW

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

NEW YORK—Time is a great healer and that old chiseler, Harold Ickes, seems to have forgotten what happened when he stood when he got fresh during the Willkie campaign.



Westbrook Pegler

As I wrote then, every man who ever had a good fighter he is, sometime in his life finds someone he can lick. It is a nice arrangement that has made it easy for us, and Ickes is my man. In fact, I am twice favored. I can take that LaGuardia, too, any time, because he is a bull-dozing fourflusher and he will tin-can it and back away squealing like a pig under a gate, if you carry it right to him and never let him get set.

But I am saving LaGuardia for later. Please leave him be. He is mine, too.

* * *

Old Ickes forgot and overspoke himself in an oration in Pittsburgh the other day and proposed me for secretary of labor in case President Thomas E. Dewey. He was trying to be funny but what is funny about that?

Hey Ickes! Tell us how you got rich.

Listen, now. He will holler "foul! Keep your purple mouth!"

He doesn't tell people how he got rich.

You know what I would do as secretary of labor, don't you?

I would turn the heat on Will Green, the president of the A. F. of L. and steam him right out of the country on charges of "un-union activity" for fighting thieves and communists.

Hey, Ickes, you penny-ante moocher, tell us about the two times you put yourself away in the naval hospital in Washington, for 30 days, all contrary to law, and you a right guy, able to pay your way in now, crusher hospitals as all other sick civilians have to do. Why you cheap sponger, you couldn't rent a private room in a pitch-pine flea bag in Washington for three bucks a day. You know who paid the overhead for your hospital bargain, don't you? Well, I'll tell you. George Spelvin. We paid it.

Did you marry into the chips, Ickes, or did you accumulate that in your book did you? But don't be bashful, tell us your inspiring success story.

I understand you are a great pal of the common man. Is that why you live on a street so exclusive that you are in Who's Who "Private Road," Ickes?

You like repartee, don't you, Ickes? You like it kind of rough, don't you?

You are my man.

Green knew all about this conviction and so did Joe Padway, the general counsel of the A. F. of L., a prosperous mouthpiece for underworld union gangsters who also poses as a friend and spokesman of American labor. I would show up the rottenness that Green and Padway couldn't see or smell and clean up the A. F. of L. single handed.

Hey, Ickes! I read your book about yourself and what a wonderman you made yourself out to be. But you never did tell us how you happened to become rich. Neither did Mrs. Roosevelt tell us in her book where the Roosevelt family fortune came from. It's time we got a lot of time and work to find out that old Warren Delano, the President's grandfather, and a very aristocratic gentleman, too, made the dough smuggling opium into China back in the 1840's. Why don't you cooperate, Ickes, and give us a tell?

* * *

You know something else I would do as secretary of labor? I would holler until congress amended the Wagner act, that tying fraud that the Roosevelt crowd put over in the guise of a gain for labor, so that, here, in 1944, millions of Americans can't work, to produce guns and ammunition for their own sons in the war unless they join Roosevelt unions and pay blackmail to the fourth term campaign fund.

Under the Wagner act, this great, milky, warm-hearted friend of labor has arranged so that he can take a cut-off from the money paid out of the public treasury to the war workers, to buy himself another four years. How do you like that? Don't tell me Roosevelt didn't plan it that way. Listen, Ickes, you always said he was a very smart man. So don't tell me he wasn't smart enough to foresee that. And if he thinks it is wrong to shake down the whole working community of the United States for his campaign fund, why doesn't he stop it?

And I would make certain, too, that a bunch of union high-binders with prison records or with traitorous personal histories in the communist conspiracy wouldn't be allowed to sit as kangaroo courts and blackmail an American workman out of his earnings all over the country on charges of "un-union activity" for fighting thieves and communists.

Hey, Ickes, you penny-ante moocher, tell us about the two times you put yourself away in the naval hospital in Washington, for 30 days, all contrary to law, and you a right guy, able to pay your way in now, crusher hospitals as all other sick civilians have to do. Why you cheap sponger, you couldn't rent a private room in a pitch-pine flea bag in Washington for three bucks a day. You know who paid the overhead for your hospital bargain, don't you? Well, I'll tell you. George Spelvin. We paid it.

Did you marry into the chips, Ickes, or did you accumulate that in your book did you? But don't be bashful, tell us your inspiring success story.

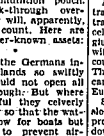
I understand you are a great pal of the common man. Is that why you live on a street so exclusive that you are in Who's Who "Private Road," Ickes?

You like repartee, don't you, Ickes? You like it kind of rough, don't you?

You are my man.

ANALYZING CURRENT NEWS FROM NEW YORK

AFRAID—Whenever the bleeding, battered, punch-drunk Germans crack up their ropes and, although sagging at the knees and panting hard, go on with the bout, people here can't help but wonder why they take it?



Albert Leman

General Eisenhower last week announced that since D-day the enemy has lost close to a million men in Europe. Casualties on the Russian front are equally appalling. Why doesn't Berlin throw in the sponge? But you never see it mentioned here before. Hitler won't let the Junker generals quit. The reich is too afraid of him. The rebel end is fastened by a too-guilty conscience for surrender to the allies. But there are other reasons for final endurance.

They still have a few more bullets left in their ammunition pouch. Until the break-through overran them, they were busy trying to make every shot count. Here are some of their lesser-known assets:

TRAP—In 1940, the Germans invaded the Netherlands so swiftly that the Dutch could not open all the dikes they meant to open. But where they were successful they cleverly flooded the country so that the waters were too shallow for boats but sufficiently deep to drown troop plane landings and to hide ditches. Enemy troops and tanks stuck in the mire or tumbled into the concealed trenches.

Brownshirt engineers improved the system and are using it now against the Anglo-Americans. Marshal Montgomery's men also are impeded by small canals as well as by great waterways, some of which are over 200 feet wide. This is perfect terrain for small bands of stubborn defenders.

United States officers back in New York from France and Belgium say that whenever the nazis have a choice between building a new type of tank trap with a width and depth beyond the capacity of an armored vehicle to negotiate, the embankments are lined with stakes, interlaced with brush to prevent cave-ins.

Barbed wires stop infantry patrol attacks at night. Machine gun pillboxes enfilade and mines guard the approaches. Heavy demolitions often fired from damaged but half-buried tanks also cover the area. No piles of earth are left for our bulldozers to push back into the holes.

* * *

SHEEPS — Undoubtedly Himmler is hard put to fill the mobile manpower replacements—a weakness that eventually will be keenly felt. But most letters now in the hands of the allies state that veterans, not inexperienced noncoms who know their trade.

Some of the new groups, such as the unique Hitler youth division, composed except for higher officers entirely of nazi zealots from 14 to 17 years of age, are trained for guerrilla tactics as their elders retreat. Even "Bliss maidens," daughters of families hooked up by allied aerial assaults, are taught to serve as snipers. "There will be no 1918," proclaims a Berlin newspaper, "if we do not give in to the end of them."

Most of the nazi economy is torn to shreds. But Berlin still gleans supplies from the Balkans and on ships sailing the short open section of the Danube or hugging the islands-rimmed Dalmatian coast. Greece exports manganese, chrome pyrites, magnesite, nickel, bauxite and ore from Europe's richest chrome mines.

Up to the last minute, before being kicked out of the low countries, the Germans weathered everything in sight and stored the booty in reich warehouses. Among the items of value are steel, pig iron, coking coal, ferro-alloys, high grade lubricants, electrical equipment in vast quantities and dairy products. "Raw material" is a relative expression, but the stocks furnished the means for recent fanatical stands by Hitler's warriors.

* * *

ARSENALS — Bereft of railroad trains and motor vehicles, Goering's transportation experts used the excellent concentration system in Belgium, Luxembourg and Holland with the reich. Without them they could not have moved the freight. They even completed the Antwerp canal, today the finest channel in Europe.

Swedish travelers report that the slogan in the reich is an old expression: "Leap over your own shadow"—do the impossible. Germans are an industrial-minded race with a genius for discipline, organization and improvisation. In agricultural state probably would have toppled long ago. But a nation of trained mechanics can provide all sorts of substitutes deprived of ore essential, it creates a workable substitute.

Lack of natural gasoline drove the Teutons to the production of synthetics; when refineries were bombed they operated their cars on products from fresh charcoal. Enormous source of this supply was captured by the Russians. Scientists developed substitutes for rubber, including specially prepared wood blocks—limitless because one-third of the reich is covered by forests.

The allies are obliterating the enemy's last arsenals but it will take time—and that is what Hitler wants in order to gain a winter breathing spell.

GAPS—Berlin would use a respite to try negotiations for peace on terms or to replenish its depleted supplies, as it did in other cold seasons.

But Hitler has had 4,000 tanks and 100,000 motor vehicles destroyed this summer. Economists estimate that his monthly losses in manpower have reached 1,500 as against production of only 1,200; 1,500 tanks of all types are wiped out every 30 days, replaced by 1,000. Such losses could have been spanned in the first or second year of the war but not now.

The Bible contains 3,566,480 letters, 773,692 words, 31,173 verses, 1,189 chapters and 66 books, according to calculations of a convict serving a long term in solitary confinement.

District B P W Clubs' Session Highlights Sunday's Calendar

Highlighting events Sunday for many women of south Idaho was the district autumn Business and Professional Women's all-day session at Burley, at which Adonis Nielson, Cassia county attorney, was principal speaker. Twin Falls, Buhl, Jerome, Gooding and Rupert members, as well as Burley club members, attended the session, presided over by Mrs. Elva Mason, Buhl, district president. Parties for visitors, weddings and numerous regular group meeting reports were other things of interest, while plans for Twentieth Century members to attend their first regular luncheon meeting Tuesday at the Baptist bungalow were of chief interest to many Twin Falls women.

"Victory and Beyond," theme of this year's B. P. W. program, was selected by Mr. Nielson as the subject for his address, in which he discussed the constitutional government and spoke against bureaucracy.

"Having no interest in your fellow men is not wise. We must all take responsibility for a better world," he continued, pointing out that centralized government is dangerous.

"Peace should not be at the price of liberty. Otherwise we'll lose what we are fighting for," he declared. "We must not make our children the pawns of dictatorship. Any change which occurs in the government should be toward keeping it more democratic than it is," Mr. Neilson warned.

Besides his address, the program included a song by Leonard Berg, Burley; address of welcome, Mrs. Gladys Joslin, Burley; response, Mrs. Maggie Violin solo, Mrs. Paul Zillner, Burley; group singing, led by Mrs. Retta Payne, Burley, accompanied by Mrs. Edna Sinclair, Burley.

At the business meeting, two motions were passed by the group: First, that the recommendation of the state board that state conventions be rotated by districts, be adopted; and, that the state board's recommendation that officers be elected in the spring, but old officers hold over until the end of the fiscal year, be adopted.

Mrs. Frankie Alworth Brown, Twin Falls, was named chairman of the nominating committee by Mrs. Mason, and will be assisted by Mrs. Alta Day, Gooding, and Mrs. Fay Hess, Burley.

Mrs. Mason announced that Mrs. Ida Cobbett, Kellogg, state president, had expressed the wish to visit this district here in the fall, and Buhl members extended invitation for the session to be held there.

Gooding BPW club members invited the district to hold its spring meeting in 1945 there.

C. E. Simonsens Feted on 25th Marriage Date

ALBION STATE NORMAL, Oct. 2—Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Simonsen celebrated their silver wedding anniversary, Wednesday, Sept. 27, with a reception in Hansen hall parlors when some 200 guests from this section of Idaho came to offer felicitations and express their good wishes for the happy couple's next 25 years.

Receiving with Mr. and Mrs. Simonsen were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Bolte, Boise, and Mrs. George W. Kerr, Pocatello, a sister.

A profusion of roses and early fall flowers decorated the rooms and halls. The gift table was a silver ship, all sails set, its deck overflowing with gifts and cards. A small lace covered table was especially attractive with two decorated bride's cakes, one lettered 1919 and the other 1944, in silver, overlooked by miniature bride and bridegroom figures, and dominated by tall tapers in silver holders.

Reception Assistants

Matching candles lighted the lace covered serving table, attractive with a low bowl of fall flowers. Miss Belle Donahue, Mrs. V. E. Neyman, Mrs. Willis Sears, Miss Mable Miller, Mrs. J. H. Chatburn and Mrs. Raymond Snyder served.

Music for the occasion was furnished by Mrs. Maye Anita Johnson and Mrs. Albert Tracy, soloist, and by Richard Kerr, organist, nephew of the pair.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. G. Lachs, Boise; Mrs. George W. Kerr and son, Richard, Pocatello; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Mauchan, Mr. and Mrs. Gale Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Deardorf, Earl J. Burns, Mrs. Charles Terhune, and Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Seeds, all of Burley.

Hiram S. Lewis and daughter, Rachel Dedo, Mr. and Mrs. J. Roy Eames, Elna, N. and Mrs. Charles Sears, Miss Nelda Ward, and John Spider, all of Malta; and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Reinberg, Rupert.

Mr. and Mrs. Simonsen have lived in Albion during all their wedded life and Mr. Simonsen has served as bursar at the Albion State Normal during that time. They were married Sept. 27, 1919, at the home of her parents, Boise.

Dinner Arranged

Preceding the reception, President B. R. Howard, Mrs. Howard and students of Albion Normal honored the couple and their family at a dinner in Cornish dining hall.

The celebration was doubly significant because their wedding date also marks the 25th year of Mr. Simonsen's service as a member of the Albion faculty.

Dinner was served at a table modernly with many vases and flowers. Miss Mable Miller read an ode to "Twenty-five Years of Marriage," written by Mrs. Snyder.

"Hoppy Anniversary" was sung by the students, led by the school cheer leader, after which the entire group went to Hansen hall where the formal reception was held.

Beth Lowe and Rex Blamires Marry at Buhl

BUHL, Oct. 2—Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Kendrick announce details of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Beth Lowe, to Rex (Bob) Blamires, Jerome, son of Mrs. Orilla Blamires, Layton, Utah, at nuptials performed Thursday, Sept. 28, at 9 p. m. by the Rev. Isaac Todd, Castleford, at their home in Buhl.

Vows were exchanged by candlelight as the couple stood beneath a beautifully decorated archway, flanked by tall baskets of pastel gladioli.

For her wedding, the bride chose a two-piece powder blue wool suit with brown accessories. Her corsage was of salmon-colored gladioli blooms.

Mrs. Curt Blamires, Gooding, was matron of honor and chose for her costume a teal blue suit with corsage of white gladioli.

Curt Blamires, Gooding, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in honor of the couple. The bride cut and served her four-tiered wedding cake in traditional fashion.

Besides members of the immediate families, wedding guests included Mrs. Isaac Todd, Castleford; Mr. and Mrs. John Glover and Mrs. William Stokesberry, Buhl.

Mrs. Blamires is a graduate of Wendell high school and of the Specialty Beauty school, Twin Falls. For the past year she has been employed at Flora's Beauty salon here.

Mr. Blamires, a graduate of Jerome high school, is associated with the Crane Plumbing shop, Jerome, where he and his bride will reside.

CARE OF YOUR CHILDREN

BY ANGELO PATRI

Grown-up people are often astounded to find that a child has done exactly what he was told not to do.

"What? Do you mean to tell me that you tried to make a raft with the sticks? That you actually went out on the river with it? I told you you couldn't make a raft, of such things. Why didn't you believe me? Now you've spoiled your clothes, ruined your clothes and nearly drowned yourself. You're simply impossible. Go right upstairs and get those wet things off. Take a bath and go to bed and don't let me see you again until tomorrow morning. What'll you do next?"

But telling a child is only the first letter of the alphabet of his life's language. Just so many words. If he has an idea working in his mind, telling him it won't work is not too effective ever. He, if he is active, healthy, intelligent child, will have to test out those ideas against your words.

Direct Him

If what the child proposes to do is dangerous as making a raft of poles tied with ropes is dangerous, you may forbid him and if at all possible find a way for him to construct the raft. If that is not possible, find something he can make that will give him active pleasure and persuade him to wait for the raft.

Some children will take the older person's word; some accept authority and make no protest, but not the active, healthy constructive child. He must try out his ideas. Look out for him and help him for his ideas are useful to his future growth.

Such children are not willfully disobedient, doing what they are told not to do just for the love of being contrary and causing trouble. The idea will ferment in their minds and drive them to action as keep on the safe side if you are dealing with such a one.

Need Experience

Telling little children to do or not to do will not work unless it is backed by their experience. Telling children on being told that the hot stove will burn them, will put a finger on it to see if it will. Don't be angry. Just say, "Too bad you cannot hear what I say," and get the salve tube out.

That child won't try that again and he will be willing to listen to your admonition the next time, at least to listen. Or he may let you test your word again and again but if that is the only way he will learn, you can do little about it.

Time and experience discipline him early and he is more cautious and adolescent than the one who tested the first time. He also has his experiences to gather and late gathering is always the more expensive. Just take it all philosophically. In time the word is made flesh, you know.

Betty Griffard, William Bubak Marry at Home

At charming home ceremonies performed at 8:30 p. m. Saturday at the home of the bride's mother, Miss Betty Griffard became the bride of William Bubak, both of Twin Falls. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Grace Griffard and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bubak.

The Rev. L. S. Oliver, pastor of the Nazarene church, performed the single ring ceremony in the presence of immediate families and close friends of the couple, who stood beneath a decorated archway for their avowal exchange. A variety of autumn flowers formed a striking background.

The bride, who chose a light blue, two-piece frock with corsage of pink rosebuds, was attended by Miss Betty Rowley as bridesmaid. Miss Rowley wore a dark blue, two-piece dress and a corsage of roses.

M. E. Gardner was best man, acting in the absence of his son, Pvt. Wayne Gardner, close friend of the bridegroom, who is now stationed at Kirtland field, Albuquerque, N. M.

Immediately following the ceremony, an informal reception was held with the bride cutting the tiered wedding cake in traditional manner.

Mr. and Mrs. Bubak left that evening on a short wedding trip, and upon their return will be at home at 321 Third avenue east. Mr. Bubak was graduated from Twin Falls high school last year, and his bride, a senior this year, will continue her studies.

Ellen Lewis and Harold Draney Reveal Nuptials

BURLEY, Oct. 2—Miss Ellen Lewis, Cassia county deputy treasurer, and Harold Draney of the state police force, were married Friday, Sept. 8, in an evening ceremony in Kimberly.

They announced the marriage this week to local friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Long, Kimberly, attended the couple, and gave a lovely wedding breakfast for them on Sept. 9.

For the wedding, the bride wore a pretty moss green suit, with brown accessories, and a gardenia and red rosebud corsage.

Mrs. Draney was graduated from Oakley high school and later attended the University of Idaho, Moscow. She was employed by Dr. L. M. Kelly before becoming deputy treasurer. Mr. Draney was deputy sheriff here until Aug. 1.

Mrs. Draney has resigned her position effective Oct. 1 and for the present the newlyweds will be at the Segal apartments.

A. L. FLAG GOES TO BROWNS ON LAST DAY OF SEASON

St. Louis Beats Yanks As Nats Defeat Tigers

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

America's third wartime baseball season ended yesterday with the St. Louis Browns winning their first pennant in the tightest race in American league history, a race not decided until the last out on the last day.

A 6-2 victory over the New York Yankees, coupled with a Detroit defeat by Washington, 4-1, gave the flag to the Browns by one game, breaking a tie that had existed since Friday.

* * * *

With all due credit to the Tigers for their amazing climb from seventh place on July 13, most fans were pulling for the Browns, not only because of the Sewellmen had never won a pennant but also because of their thrilling comeback after they had apparently dropped out of the running. Just three weeks ago, they had skidded to third place after having led virtually all season.

With Sigmund (Jack) Jakucki hurling a six-hitter before 37,815 fans, the largest St. Louis crowd of the season, the Brownies won a four-game series from the Yankees, to climax a great streich drive, during which they won 11 out of 12.

Leonard Stops Tigers

Emil (Dutch) Leonard, 34-year-old knuckleballer, who had not beaten the Tigers since Sept. 15, 1941, losing seven straight to the Bengals since, was the Tiger tamer, hurling a four-hitter before a dazed crowd of 43,555 fans. Rudy Sprague, who batted Detroit on Friday to create a first-place tie, cracked his third homer in three days to pair the crusher on Detroit.

Dizzy Trout, who teamed with Hal Newhouser to set a new lively ball era record with 29 victories, made the second attempt in three days for his 28th victory, but suffered his 16th defeat instead.

Thus the Browns, who had finished as high as second only twice before—in 1902, their first season, and in 1922, when they missed the pennant by one game—won the right to meet St. Louis' National league representative, the Cardinals, in the world series opening Wednesday.

New Low for McCarthy

The Yankees failed in an attempt to win their fourth straight flag, dropping to third in the lowest in the Joe McCarthy regime.

Hit hard by the loss of such stars as Bill Dickey, Charlie Keller, Joe Gordon, Bill Johnson and Spud Chandler, the Yanks put up a game fight, but faded in the last week, ending their four straight losses to the Browns.

The Boston Red Sox, a contender all season, fell back when their ace pitcher, Dave Hushoon, winner of 18 games, and their ace hitter, Bobby Doerr, batting .325, were called in to the service a month before the close of the season. They finished with a .500 average in fourth place, 11 games off the pace. They ended the season splitting a twin-bill from the White Sox, winning the first 3-1 and then losing 4-1.

Best Since 1934

The second division clubs were Cleveland and Philadelphia tied for sixth with 72 games apiece and Washington eighth. The Mackmen won both games from the Indians, 5-3 and 5-0, to tie Cleveland, making their best finish since they placed fifth in 1934.

The Cards made a runaway race of it in the second half of the flag and their third in succession by splitting a twin-bill with the Giants, losing 6-5 in 13 innings and winning the second 10-5.

Pittsburgh nosed out Cincinnati for the runner-up spot on the final day, splitting a twin-bill with Philadelphia, winning the opener, 9-1, and losing the nightcap, 7-1, while the Reds bowed to Brooklyn, 6-5. The Chicago Cubs, after a bad start, rallied to snatch fourth place from the Giants, making it the first time since 1926 that all the western teams finished in the first division.

Greater Field Trials Planned

Their first trials having come to a successful conclusion, members of the newly-organized Idaho Field Trials association today began to lay plans for annual trials that henceforth will rank with the best in the nation.

Allen Sharpe, celebrated Canadian trainer who competed here Saturday and Sunday with a large number of dogs, termed Twin Falls, "a natural" for great trials. He said that this area was on the route that trainers who have been running dogs in Canada during the summer must take to get back to Pacific coast for winter trials.

Course Praised

"I am certain that about a dozen trainers would like to stop off here every year for trials, each with between 20 and 30 dogs ready for competition," he said. "And, too, the local course 'on the Bill Williams' ranch, nine miles south of east five points) is the best I have ever seen. I know trainers would like to compete without having to take their dogs run for the entire course."

Pointers trained by Sharpe and out of champion Texas Ranger won the derby, the first event run here yesterday. They were Texas Adventure, owned by Dr. Clarke, Seattle, first; Dave's Texan, owned by Roy Stone, Spokane, and Sirtax, Sharpe handled all three dogs.

Everton Has Two Winners

Mel Everton, president of the local club, was the only Magic Valley winner. Tuffy, sired by Eagle's Don Mike, Everton's Idaho and Utah champion, won the puppy stakes. His Peggy, litter sister of Tuffy, finished third, behind Sunny Jim, owned by Tim, owned by K. W. Sommer, Salt Lake City. Sharpe handled the winner, while the owners handled the other two dogs to places.

Capt. Jack Shoals, second in the all-age stake Saturday, won the stake today. He is owned by E. W. Sherwood, Idaho Falls, whose Spotation Peerino, a setter, was second. Nel's Smoky Lady, a setter, third.

Woman Owner Places

The novice event also was won by outsiders. Heide, a setter owned by Earl F. Spencer, Shelley, was first, with Jake, a German pointer, owned by Ed Holm, Idaho Falls, was second. Spencer handled and handled by Mrs. Laverne Flagler, Idaho Falls, the only woman participating, was third.

Fifty-two dogs from Oregon, Washington, California, British Columbia, Utah and Idaho competed in the field trials.

The judges were Sommer, Leland Briscoe, secretary of the club; Bob Crowder, Salt Lake City, and Jones Wendell and Taylor Williams, Sun Valley.

Laabs Hero in Brown Victory

By LEO H. PETERSEN

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 2 (U.P.)—The St. Louis Browns carried the American League pennant into the world series today for the first time in history.

The Cinderella boys won it the hard way, nosing out the Detroit Tigers by a one-game margin on the last day of the season. They will go into the series opening Wednesday with their intra-city rivals, the St. Louis Cardinals, under-dogs, but no one who saw them whip the New York Yankees in four straight games was selling them short. And with fans running wild, they will be the sentimental favorites.

The fight that won them the Browns first world series gold since the American league began operating in 1901 was magnificent. They went down to the last day to win, and as they had been showing all season long, they had what it takes in the clutch. No one, including their manager, Luke Sewell, could class them a great club, but they have fight and courage.

Chet Laabs Hero

Every one of them was a hero to all the others and outstanding of these heroes was Chet Laabs, whose two home runs provided the power to down the Yankees yesterday in Sportsman's park in the game that means gold and glory. The score was 6 to 2.

When the odds are against them, the Browns are at their best. And they had one other advantage yesterday. When they took the field the scoreboard showed that the Senators were beating Detroit, 3 to 0. But they were jittery for the first three innings, throwing the ball away and practically handing the Yankees two runs. Then, in the fourth that they showed the stuff of which champions are made. By that time the Senators were leading, 4 to 0, with the Tigers at bat in the last of the ninth. To the cheers of more than 37,000 fans—made the second attempt in three days for his 28th victory, but suffered his 16th defeat instead.

Thus the Browns, who had finished as high as second only twice before—in 1902, their first season, and in 1922, when they missed the pennant by one game—won the right to meet St. Louis' National league representative, the Cardinals, in the world series opening Wednesday.

Series Opens Wednesday

By CHARLES DUNKLEY

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 2 (U.P.)—For the first time in baseball history teams representing St. Louis in the National and American leagues will battle for a world's championship in a series opening at Sportsman's park on Wednesday.

The surprise team of the year, the Browns, and their National cousins, the Cardinals, will be the contenders.

The Browns swept to their first American league championship in 43 years yesterday by defeating the New York Yankees, fading world's champions, 5 to 2, while the tailend Washington Senators were giving priceless aid by eliminating the Detroit Tigers, 4 to 1.

Third Club to Win Both

The Browns' triumph gives St. Louis the honor of being the third city in the major leagues to keep a world's series within its gates. Chicago and New York are the other two. In 1906, the Chicago White Sox and Cubs clashed, with the White Sox winning the title. In 1921, '22, and '23 and in 1936 and '37 the Yankees and Giants made it an all New York classic.

The Browns set two records yesterday in trimming the Yankees four in a row in one series and drawing a sweltering shirt-sleeved crowd of 37,815, an all-time high attendance figure for a St. Louis American league club at home.

There will be no time for celebrating by the Brownies for their day of rest ends after a double game. One of Manager Luke Sewell's first orders was for his players to report to the ball park at 11 o'clock today for a workout.

Nelson Potter May Be Choice

The big question in every fan's mind is which pitcher Sewell will choose to oppose the Cardinals in the first game.

Observers are of the opinion that he will start Nelson Potter, the club's leading pitcher with 19 victories and seven defeats. Potter has won 13 of his last 15 games in which he has started since June 21. He has had the best year of his career and is cool under fire. However, it may be that the names of the opening pitchers will be kept secret until tomorrow. Billy Southworth, manager of the Cardinals, has refused to divulge his selection, but the prospects are he will be Morton Cooper.

Although the Cardinals are favored in the betting, the Browns cannot be counted out because of their great courage and their ability to come back after one serious disappointment after another. They led the league most of the season, saw a seven-game lead slide from under them, take the lead quickly again, lose it just as quickly, and then slug their way the race to go on to ultimate victory.

"They've got it—guts," explained Sewell.

WRAY PICKED BROWNS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (U.P.)— J. E. Wray, sports editor of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, was the only one of the 48 baseball writers in the pre-season Associated Press poll to pick both the St. Louis Browns and Cardinals to win American and National league flags. In fact, Wray's vote was the only first-place ballot the Browns received.

Bordewick and Hustead to Meet Next Sunday for Buhl Golf Title

BUHL, Oct. 2 — Emil Bordewick and Everett Hustead will meet at the Clear Lakes course next Sunday in the match that will decide the Buhl Golf club's annual championship.

Bordewick defeated Olin Smith, 2 and 1, while Hustead triumphed over James Shields by a like margin in the semi-final matches at the course yesterday.

Tradition will be against Bordewick in the championship match. No golfer has ever won the title twice and Emil captured the crown 10 years ago.

In the president's flight, Roy Falt forfeited to Ken Curtis. The victor will meet the winner of the match between Ray Wilkinson, past champion, and Gus Averett, the medalist in the tournament, which was postponed.

Jack Tingey defeated Verne Johnson, 1 up, to win the first flight crown, while Frank Stewart won the second flight championship with a 2 and 1 triumph over Jess Eastman.

The third flight title went to E. M. Tomlinson on a forfeit.

Members of the club partook of a pot-luck dinner at the club's picnic grounds during the day.

Russell Wins Golf Driving

Averaging 239 yards, Jimmy Russell, Twin Falls Bruins' basketball baseball star, won the driving contest staged by Cosire Master Fred Stone at the Twin Falls municipal golf links Sunday morning. He had drives of 243, 235 and 239 yards.

Second was C. H. "Spec" Haslam, who totaled 675 on drives of 218, 222 and 225, while third place went to E. C. Jensen with 660, including drives of 230, 210 and 220.

The driving contest was one of two features on the program that weekend, the other being a golf match at the local course. The other was a two ball foursome tournament, in which Jensen and O. J. Bellwood teamed to defeat Bill Cooper and Elmer "Sprouts" Leichliter for the championship. Each had 83, the former shooting 42-41 and the latter pair 39-44.

Bob Denton and Lem Chapin were third with 47-40—87.

Haslam and Johnny Drips and Hanley Payne and Dr. O. T. Luke tied for fourth with 89. The former shot 46-43 and the latter 44-45.

Other scores were:

Dick Roberts and Al Westergren—41-51—92.

Jim Bowden and Jim Mullen—45-47—92.

Corky Carlson and Harmon Wolfe —46-45—91.

Jimmy Russell and Bill Thomas—45-48—93.

Leonard Bruce and Fred Stone—48-46—94.

Dr. Glenn Hoss and Dick Sogn—54-43—97.

Al Norton and Joe Donahue—54-54—108.

MISS OSBORNE WINS

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2 (U.P.) — A sizzling women's singles final, won by Margaret Osborne, San Francisco, over Louise Brough, Beverly Hills, 8-6, 3-6, 6-4, featured the closing round of the 55th annual Pacific coast tennis championships yesterday.

Not Even Cupid Allowed to Halt Woman's Hunt

BURLEY, Oct. 2 (Special)—A "dear" and "dear" figured in a legal action in the county recorder's office.

A mother who drew a permit for the Minidoka deer hunt had a daughter not yet 18 years old desiring to be married on Saturday. She appeared at the recorder's office to give her consent in advance, so that she could go hunting on scheduled and yet allow her daughter to marry.

The mother was Mrs. Lillian R. Peterson. The daughter was Miss Marian Irene Peterson, who was married to Francis D. Hayden.

Packers Gain Third in Row

CHICAGO, Oct. 2 (U.P.)—It looked today like those Green Bay Packers, who once dominated the National Football league, are at it again.

At any rate, the Packers, who last week knocked off the defending champion Chicago Bears, are far ahead of the rest of the pack in both the eastern and western divisions, and if they get past the already-beaten Pittsburgh Steelers—Chicago cardinal combination next Sunday, they certainly can't be overlooked by the Yogis who make a habit of crystal-gazing for a champion.

The Packers won their third straight league game yesterday when, after spotting Detroit a touchdown, they got their bearings midway of the second quarter and passed their way to a 27-8 victory before 18,500 fans.

The Packer victory came in the only league game of the day, although the Washington Redskins were busy in intra-league exhibitions.

The Chicago Bears, apparently rejuvenated after losing to Green Bay, 35-24, a week earlier, came back to hand the Washington Redskins, last year's eastern division champs, a 28-0 setback before 22,017, the day's biggest crowd.

At Pittsburgh, the Card-Pitt combination edged out a 17-16 victory over the New York Giants. Cleveland's Rams and the Philadelphia Eagles played a 7-7 tie at Buffalo in another exhibition.

Local Hunters Kill Five Elk

While hunters were checking out deer from the Minidoka forest's first hunt by the hundreds, the success of Twin Falls sleuths in the Selway forest elk hunt was reported.

A party of hunters headed by Dr. George F. Scholer, president of the Southern Idaho Fish and Game association, reported getting five elk in the Selway area in a telephone communication with Mrs. Scholer. They hiked into the area from Hamilton, Mont. Scholer told his wife that it was snowing in the region.

Indications were that most of the 2,200 hunting permits would get their deer in the Minidoka hunt before the season closes on Oct. 4.

Hunting Dates

The Times-News sports department receives many inquiries on the various hunting seasons. To assist the hunters and save much telephoning, this list of hunting seasons is printed:

NAVY WINS NO. 7

HONOLULU, Oct. 2 (AP)—The navy was undisputed "servicemen's world series" champion today, but the army sank the sailors' chance at a clean sweep of the seven-game series by taking the final one, 8-3, yesterday.

7-Pound Trout

BURLEY, Oct. 2 (Special) — "Duke" Anderson, manager of the local telephone company branch, wants everyone in Magic valley to know that he caught a seven-pound, two-feet long trout in Snake river.

But he will not say where in Snake river.

He has given the "exact" locale to several friends, but no two places were the same.

Angels Defeat Seals Twice

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 2 (AP)—The Los Angeles Angels and the San Francisco Seals resume their Pacific coast league baseball playoff series tonight with the northerners leading three games to two.

San Francisco can win the governor's trophy with a victory in tonight's game. If Los Angeles wins, the deciding contest will be played tomorrow night.

The league champion Angels stayed in the running by defeating San Francisco, 5-4 and 2-1, yesterday.

In the opener Johnny Ostrowski rapped out a homer in the ninth to score the winning run. In the second game Rip Sewell broke a 1-1 tie by doubling in the fifth.

TERRY NAMED AS KIWANIS OFFICIAL

OGDEN, Oct. 2 (AP) — John E. Booth, former mayor of Spanish Fork, Utah, yesterday was elected Utah-Idaho district governor of Kiwanis International at closing sessions of the streamlined 1944 conference, attended by 85 representatives of clubs.

Booth was chosen without opposition and will take office Jan. 1, succeeding Edson H. Deal, Nampa, Ida.

Four lieutenant governors for divisions of the district were named. They included: U lmer N. Terry, Twin Falls, division three, and Frank Blonquist, Caldwell, division four.

Grange Charter Members Honored

Charter members and past masters of Twin Falls Grange present at recent booster night festivities, were honored during the program arranged by Mrs. Ted Scott, lecturer. The session, attended by 60 persons, was held at the IOOF hall with Harry Capps, master, presiding.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. C E. McClain were charter members present, and past masters included J. P. Cordes, J. S. Feldhusen, O. T. Koster, Tom Speedy and W. O. Jackey.

Veronica Hoffman sang, accompanied by Helen Capps; Roy Durk, Pomona master, made a short address, and Mrs. Ben O'Harrow gave a reading.

Showing of rehabilitation films and a talk were then given by Lieut. Walter Roberts, assisted by Lieut. Merritt Shotwell, and patriotic singing by the group concluded the program. Refreshments were served.

Family Reunion

BUHL, Oct. 2 — A real family reunion was enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Spencer, when all of their children gathered together from different corners of the west and middle west, in the Spencer's new home in McCollum addition. Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Spencer came from Oklahoma City, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Perry Howard from Santa Rosa, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Spencer and children, from Fallon, Nev., and Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Spencer from Jerome.

BURLEY SCHOOLS ON SPUD HOLIDAY

BURLEY, Oct. 2—All Burley schools will close their doors for the fall harvest vacation this weekend.

The vacation will last four or five weeks, depending on weather and condition of the crops and harvest.

Students from the fourth grade up were organized in crews before school let out, and crews will be supervised and transported from job to job in an efficient manner by Harvey Steele and his staff, with headquarters at the USES office in the city hall.

Beet dumps on this side of the river opened today and although potatoes are "slow" this fall, that harvest is getting well started.

3 Cars Smashup, No One Injured

SHOSHONE, Oct. 2—No one was injured when three cars collided on the Richfield highway one mile east of here at 4 p. m. Sunday. The cars were damaged.

Orville E. Smith, Darlington, driving a light sedan was trying to pass the car driven by Royal K. Pearson, Boise, when Clarence Belt, Shoshone, pulled out from a side road blocking the two cars.

No estimate of damage was given.

Church Here to Repair Structure

Presbyterian church members, at a congregational meeting Sunday, gave the board of trustees authority to organize a building committee to devise means of making extensive repairs to the church building.

Reese M. Williams, president of the board, said Monday that full details will be announced later. H. C. Schade is secretary of the board.

Until the building repair program is completed, services of the Presbyterian church are being held in the high school auditorium.

Ceiling Prices Guard Second-Hand Articles

All home mechanical refrigerators, typewriters, household vacuum cleaners and attachments, domestic washing machines and metal coil bed springs have a ceiling price on file with the price secretary of the war price and rationing board, Carl N. Anderson, chief clerk of the local OPA board, Monday reminded the buying public.

He suggested that prospective purchasers should consult this list before purchasing any such used equipment. Many overcharges are being reported, he added.

Youth Leadership Plan Will Be Extended to North Idaho

Enthusiastic approval of John Platt's leadership training program, first instituted here under Junior Chamber of Commerce auspices three years ago, was received from the Lewiston and Kellogg Jaycees when introduced there late last week by Charles Sieber, Twin Falls, state Jaycee president.

Returning here Monday morning, Sieber lauded the outstanding work of the two northern Idaho organizations and expressed his gratitude for the receptions given him and his wife, who accompanied him on the four-day tour.

Plan Accepted

At Lewiston, where a banquet meeting was held Thursday night in the Lewis-Clark hotel, a committee to put the Twin Falls Jaycee plan in effect there was appointed immediately after Sieber made the suggestion. The Kellogg group, at a Friday night meeting, decided to incorporate the suggestion into the work of their present leadership training committee.

The plan, whereby high school boys attend meetings of local civic and governmental groups for the purpose of learning how they function, will be submitted to the state board of directors at the Caldwell meeting next Sunday, Sieber said. Should it be approved as expected, work of the program will be combined with that of the state personnel committee, headed by Sam Keller, Kellogg.

At both cities visited, Sieber was told of plans for extension work in organizing Jaycee groups in neighboring communities. Kellogg's Jaycee is endeavoring to promote groups in Coeur d'Alene and Wallace. The Lewiston organization will attempt to revive the defunct St. Maries chapter and organize others in Moscow and Grangeville.

Planning Contest Set

Sieber announced a statewide competitive project, sponsored by the Kellogg Jaycees, which has as it expressed object the fostering of "planning, by local Jaycee organizations in the state of Idaho, with the objective of maintaining a high employment level and creating an expansion of business activity in their local area, in the post war period."

Though Kellogg has already announced a first prize of $100, Sieber said he would undertake to have other local organizations sponsor two other awards. Payment of awards will be based on effectiveness, permanence, cost, soundness of financing, feasibility and detail, timing, and extent of local Jaycee participation.

Jaycee organizations may submit reports until April 1, 1945. Judges have not yet been announced.

Mine Firm Helps

Cooperation of the Bunker Hill and Sullivan Mining and Concentrating company was received in backing the contest. While in Kellogg, Sieber was taken through the mine and smelting plants. It is the largest lead mine in the world.

The state president said that the panhandle section of the state contains the "most beautiful scenery" he had ever seen. He expressed the belief that the area would make a worthier alternative to other surrounding states for post-war tourists.

Regarding the "secession" of the panhandle from the state in order to join Washington, California or Montana, Sieber said "it was all a joke." However, the Lewiston group, which had gone on record as "supporting" secession, after a California Chamber of Commerce map was published mistakenly giving the area to Montana, told Sieber that more recognition really was due their region.

"If people here in the southern part of the state knew what beautiful scenery they have there and what an energetic group of people they are, there would be closer cooperation between the two," Sieber remarked.

Largest Sawmill

Another superlative of the tour was a visit to the largest sawmill in the world, located at Lewiston. As in the case of Kellogg, a reception committee met Sieber and conducted him on an extensive sight-seeing tour before the meeting.

Both cities have youth centers built last year, the state president reported, and both are "functioning 100 per cent."

Spending what he termed "the busiest four days of my life" on the trip, Sieber also conferred with local organization presidents Johnnie Wilson at Caldwell, Bradley Plummer at Council, Bob Walker at Boise, and Ray Jones at Nampa.

Boy, 10, Falls in Front of Derrick; Ditch Saves Him

GLENNS FERRY, Oct. 2—A shallow ditch saved 10-year-old David Kauffman, Indian Cove, from being crushed to death by a hay derrick.

The boy fell in front of the derrick, which was being moved by his father and uncle. Because he had tumbled into the shallow ditch, the boy was unhurt as the derrick passed over him.

Prompt action stopped the movement of the heavy timbers in time to rescue the youngster.

Flier From Kimberly Wears Five Clusters

HEADQUARTERS, 13TH AAF, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC — First Lieut. Robert R. Scott, son of Roy D. Scott, Kimberly, Ida., has been presented with five oak leaf clusters to the air medal for meritorious achievement as a fighter pilot with the 13th AAF Fighting Cocks unit.

Lieutenant Scott won his wings at Yuma, Ariz. His wife is the former Mary L. Peterson, Kimberly. Two brothers, William and Ralph, and a sister, Janice, live at home. Another brother, Francis, is an aviation machinist's mate second class in the navy. Another sister, Mrs. R. Dimoch, is a resident of Arlington, Va.

BURLEY, Oct. 2—Lulu Mae Fagg received a decree of divorce Sept. 28 from Larry W. Fagg in district court. She was awarded custody of their two children and was granted support money.

Advanced Combat Work for Marine

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 2 — Marine Pvt. James S. Loundenslager, Hagerman, Ida., son of Ray M. Loudenslager, is taking advanced combat training with a marine infantry battalion. He has graduated from the infantry and Browning automatic rifle school at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

Marines at the training command have had thorough schooling in use of the Garand and carbine rifles, hand and anti-tank grenades, and bayonet and knife for jungle fighting.

Private Loundenslager's wife and three children live in Hagerman where he was a truck driver before joining the marines April 27 at Boise.

Bluejacket Leaves For San Diego Base

BURLEY, Oct. 2—Dale E. Osterhout, aviation machinist's mate third class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Osterhout, Burley, left for San Diego, Calif., to report for duty after spending a 15-day leave with his parents.

Osterhout received his boot training at Farragut. He was then sent to Norman, Okla., where he received his machinist's mate rating. From there he went to Purcell, Okla., for gunnery training and was later sent to Jacksonville, Fla., where he received his aerial gunner's wings. He entered the navy Aug. 31, 1943.

Harvest Vacation

EDEN, Sept. 2—Harvest vacation for Eden high school began Monday and will continue until the crops are harvested, but not later than Oct. 29, according to A. E. Glah, principal. Following vacation, classes will begin at 8:45 a.m., with noon hour from 12:45 to 1:30 p.m. and school will be dismissed at 4:30 p.m.

FINED $10 AT BUHL

MARKET GAINS TO OPEN NEW MONTH

Markets at a Glance

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP)—
Stocks mixed; steels, aircrafts higher.
Bonds steady; rails pace slow advance.
Cotton quiet; hedge selling, mill buying.

Chicago
Wheat mixed; profit taking; mill buying.
Corn weak; light trade; no frost to damage crop.
Oats weak; profit taking, lack of demand.
Hogs active and fully steady; top $14.75.
Cattle steady; top $18.35.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP) — The stock market today stepped into the new month with a fair amount of bullishness persisting but with many customers still unconvinced that a lengthy upswing was in the making.

Aircrafts took the early play, touching peaks for the year or longer in active dealings. Steels then joined the sprint, along with other selected industrials. Liveliness of low-quoted issues, appearing in sizeable blocks without getting anywhere in particular, helped put volume at better than 800,000 shares, one of the largest since early September. Peak advances running to a point or so were substantially reduced near the close and losers were plentiful.

Bonds were steady.

GERMANY WILL TRY IT AGAIN

By Sigrid Schultz

Copyright, 1944, by Sigrid Schultz
Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

As an American newspaper correspondent in Berlin from 1939 to 1941, Sigrid Schultz saw at first hand the events that led from World War I to World war II. And she saw the behind-the-scenes preparation for the coming "war-in-peace" that she warns will culminate in World war II. This is the story of Germany's plans to win the peace plans that even now are being put into effect.

VI

One of the reasons why General Groener had insisted that Germany accept the Versailles treaty in 1919 rather than risk another war was the fear of the French wish to split Germany into small states.

But as month after month of inflation aggravated the suffering of the people, the country seemed almost ready to disintegrate of itself, without any pressure from outside. If the people were to find unity again, it must be the magic unity of facing a common foe.

Why not, the secret circle wondered, entice France into doing something to the German people that would make her appear their common national enemy? England and the United States were already following the German propaganda red herring: That France was dividing on unreasonable demands to crush poor, helpless Germany. Reliable witnesses have since stated that German industrialists deliberately curtailed their reparations deliveries of coal and wood to France, purposely in order to goad the French to action.

Like so many German rules, this one worked to perfection. The exasperated French and Belgians marched into the Ruhr. Their allies grew cool, the German factional frictions dissolved in the need for a solid front. With the socialists and the nationalists pulling together on the same team, the free corps achieved the dignity of open recruitment and of joint training with the reichswehr to point the men for active combat with the French. Then came the compromise.

The German militarists found themselves, however, with trained troops on their hands at the peak of a well-cultivated patriotic frenzy. What to do with them?

To some of the leaders it seemed like a fine time to get rid of the hated republic, especially as the black reichswehr groups in Bavaria (which was then run by a reactionary government anyway), to General Ludendorff, and to his pupil, Adolf Hitler.

* * *

Neither Ludendorff nor Hitler realized at the time, however, that the Ruhr crisis had strengthened the republican movement, not weakened it. General von Seeckt had seen how zealously the republican leaders had labored for German unity. There was henceforth no reason why he and his associates could not work with the republicans. So when Hitler and the lesser Munich plotters sought support from army headquarters in Berlin, they got cold-shouldered.

This rejection made General Ludendorff and his protege, Adolf Hitler, all the more frantic to act. Under the pretense of organizing "field exercises," they rammed their soldiery to Munich for Nov. 10. Two days before, Hitler sensed a certain distrust among the Bavarian conservatives. He decided not to wait for his reserves to arrive from the Bavarian mountains and the small town hotspots, but to seize power in a surprise-and-bluff attack. State Commissioner von Kahr had called the small businessmen of the district together in the Buergerbraukeller, a Munich beer hall, for a lecture on economics. What could be easier, thought Hitler, than to surround the place with the available storm troopers, win over the men inside and move on to the government buildings, pursuing the Kapp Putsch technique?

That is what happened, or almost. Hitler, attired in a Prince Albert coat, brandishing a pistol, proclaimed the revolution. To the 3,000 assembled brewers, and look-alike Commissioner von Kahr, General von Lossow, and the police chief, von Seisser, ran into an antechamber. There, while Goering soothed the crowd in the main hall, Hitler outlined the form of the new government in which each of them was to have a fat job under his orders. They remained impassive. Then he started to plead with them for their cooperation and ended, to their disgust, with an hysterical threat to commit suicide if he failed.

In the meantime, General Ludendorff—who—hadn't known—of the change in schedule, was hastily summoned from his villa in nearby Ludwigshoehe. And while he tried to persuade Commissioner von Kahr and General von Lossow to join forces with Hitler, reichswehr officers on duty in Munich heard about what they called the "wild west scene" in the Buergerbraukeller. They promptly reported to General von Seeckt in Berlin.

General von Seeckt informed the Munich reichswehr officers that he could not tolerate insubordination of any kind.

The nazi chiefs determined to go ahead and take over the government buildings. General Ludendorff volunteered to lead the storm troopers. His popularity with the reichswehr men and with the police, he felt, would keep them from firing, induce them to join his side, and also give cover to success.

But the police did fire. The brave nazis scattered in all directions. The one hero of the moment was Ludendorff's orderly who, by throwing himself in front of the general, died of the bullet meant for his superior. Ludendorff marched straight ahead, and in the end was arrested by the police.

Hitler, who had talked so glibly about heroism and suicide only the night before, rushed to one of the nazi cars and fled to the suburban home of the American-born mother of his friend Ernest Hanfstaengel.

Jerome Man Wins Air Medal Award

ELEVENTH AF HEADQUARTERS — For meritorious achievement in aerial flight—on May 19, 1944, and again on Aug. 10, 1944, four members of an element of an air force medium bomber crew recently received Oak Leaf Clusters at their base in the western Aleutians. The medals were awarded by order of Maj.-Gen. Davenport Johnson, eleventh AF commanding general, in recognition of their daring reconnaissance and bombing missions which this crew successfully carried out under extremely adverse conditions against enemy vessels almost within sight of the Japanese homeland harbors in the Kurile islands.

Among those awarded was Second Lieut. Ralph B. Peters, co-pilot, Jerome, Ida.

In delivering the commendation, General Johnson stated that "These officers and this enlisted man, as members of a medium bomber crew, participated in missions assigned to locate and destroy enemy vessels which necessitated long over-water flights in the face of adverse weather and enemy opposition."

Continuing the commendation, General Johnson further stated that "On each flight, contact was made with enemy naval auxiliary vessels which were attacked and damaged or destroyed. Heavy anti-aircraft fire was encountered on both of these missions and only by superior airmanship and extraordinary courage of this crew were these strikes at the enemy successfully concluded. The teamwork and skill demonstrated by this crew is in keeping with the finest traditions of the army air forces."

Richfield Legion Installs Leaders

RICHFIELD, Oct. 2 — Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith entertained for the Earl Morrison Legion post and auxiliary members with a dinner at the Elmer Swatman residence preceding the business sessions. Reports were given by Birney Powell, Elmer Swatman and Mrs. Emma Brasch-shaw who attended the Legion state convention at Boise.

New officers installed for the Legion auxiliary were Mrs. Emma Bradshaw, president; Mrs. Lorene Swatman, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Edna Piper, chaplain and historian and Mrs. Sue Crawford, sergeant-at-arms.

FAIRFIELD

Garry Edwards, seaman 2c, second class, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Edwards, arrived home on a 10-day leave from Farragut naval training center.

Paratrooper Norman E. Leek, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Leek, from Fort Benning, Ga., is here on furlough.

Mrs. Laura Barron is remodeling her tenant house, occupied by Mrs. Hattie Lamson.

Mrs. Hattie N. Lamson, county superintendent of schools and City Supt. Hyde Stevens and the following teachers attended the district institute at Twin Falls: Mrs. Ruth Smuts, Arlin C. Dennis, Mrs. Richard Barney Dunn, clerk; and Maxine Reynolds, Mrs. Vera Vanskike, Mrs. Phyllis Hall, Mrs. Blanche Harnes, Mrs. Jessie Guest, Mrs. B. D. Spratt attended the institute at Boise.

Don't Miss the Boat!

THERE ARE ONLY 11 MORE SHOPPING DAYS for your OVERSEAS CHRISTMAS MAIL

Yes, our boys and girls are busy fighting a war—so busy that there is time to think of little else. But even the bloody battle they fight cannot crowd out of their straight-thinking American minds the pleasant associations and memories of past Christmases they spent at home with their loved ones. For Christmas means much to our gallant fighting men overseas. Underneath their newly acquired toughness, remain the sentimental hearts that long for home, familiar faces and cherished words. And as the Yuletide draws near, they think more and more of the family and friends they left behind.

More than anything on earth, they want to be remembered on Christmas day. Are you going to fail these thousands of young Americans who are fighting so that you can continue to exchange gifts on Christmas day instead of bombs? Will your package arrive at the pier just after the boat has lifted anchor? No, not if you shop and mail your gifts now—not if you beat the October 15th deadline!

Don't delay—select your gifts and get your mailing instructions today.

FOLLOW THESE SIX SIMPLE RULES . . .

in mailing to servicemen and women overseas, and do it before

OCTOBER 15

1. Packages must not exceed 15 inches in length; or 36 inches in length and girth combined.
2. To insure delivery before Christmas every package must be labeled "CHRISTMAS PARCEL."
3. Name, rank, organization, A.P.O. address and serial number must appear in ink on wrapping or carton.
4. Perishable matter, intoxicants, weapons, poisons and inflammable materials including matches and lighter fluids are prohibited articles.
5. Gifts should be packed neatly and securely in strong boxes or containers and covered with sturdy wrappers.
6. Prevailing rate is parcel post rate from post office where package is mailed to post office in care of which package is addressed, and must be prepaid.
